Look out for the sleek-tongued varments that tell you the Advance is not the best machine in the market. Those that tell you falsehoods are not worthy of being called by any other name. The ADVANCE is guaranteed to do more and better work than any other machine in the market, and is the only machine on the Coast that has NEVER been replaced by other machines. Other dealers have offered new machines for an ADVANCE that has been run two years and have given parties to understand they would give differences, but were told that the ADVANCE, after two years' run was still much better than old fogy machines, if they were new. And if the ADVANCE engine is not the best traction engine why is it that I have sold TWELVE on the West Side, between Portland and Corvallis, this year?

AN UNEVENTFUL DAY.

A Report on City, County and Township Organizations.

THE ARTICLE ON JUDICIARY

After a Brief Session This Forenoon, the Convention Will Attend a Big Clam Bake—A Detailed Report

OLYMPIA, W. T., July 22.—The convention met at 1:30, the president in the chair.

Prayer by Rev. J. R. Chaplin of Olympia.

The roll call showed nineteen absentees, the greatest number yet, viz: Messrs. Berry, Buchanan, Comegys, Dunbar, Eshelman, Gowey, Henry, Kellogg, Kinnear, Lillis, McElroy, McReavy, Tibbetts, Winsor, Willison, Newton, Sohns and Weir.

Messrs. Gowey and Henry came in and were placed on the roll.

Messrs. Comegys, Dunbar, Kellogg, McElroy, McReavy, Tibbetts, Winsor, Willison, Sohns and Weir were excused on motions of sundry members.

The records were read and approved.

Mr. Minor asked unanimous consent for a resolution directing the judicial committee to prepare a separate article on impeachments and removals from office; adopted.

Mr. Power offered a resolution relative to the payment of the clerks and officers of the convention, fixing their pay at $6 per day for the reading clerk, $5 for the journal and committee clerks and $4 for the pages; adopted.

Mr. Brown presented a petition from the teachers of the Fourth judicial district, advocating industrial training, certain text books, compulsory education, an educational test for voters, etc.; referred to the committee on education.

The president submitted a telegram from ex-Attorney General George H. Williams asking if the members would like to hear an address from Senator Stewart, of Nevada, on silver and irrigation and asked the advice of the convention as to an answer.

Mr. Dyer moved that Senator Stewart be invited to deliver such an address; adopted, yeas [illegible], nays 7.

Mr. Gowey presented a memorial from the First Unitarian church of Tacoma asking that church property be subject to taxation like other property, and stating that many leading Israelites joined in the memorial; referred to the committee on taxation.

COUNTIES, CITIES AND TOWNSHIPS.

An Article on That Subject Presented by the Committee

Mr. Stiles from the committee on county, city and township organizations presented the article on that subject which the committee recommended. It embraces fifteen sections as follows:

Section one declares that the present county lines shall be the legal subdivisions of the state.

Section two prohibits the removal of a county seat unless upon vote of the majority of the qualified voters of the county, and such proposition to be submitted not oftener than once in four years.

Section three prohibits the establishment of a new county of not less than 2000 population; no new county shall be established where the present county will be reduced below 4000, and then not unless a majority of the voters in the territory to be set off request it, and providing for equalizing county debts in such cases.

Section 4 requires the legislature to establish a system of uniform county governments and township organizations.

Section 5 requires the legislature to provide by uniform laws for the election of county officers and prescribe their duties and regulate their compensation, and for their strict accountability for all public moneys in their hands.

Section 6 provides for the temporary filling of vacant county and township offices by the board of county commissioners.

Section 7 prohibits any county officer from holding his office for more than two successive terms.

Section 8 authorizes the legislature to fix all salaries for all county officers and constables in cities of 5000 and upwards, provided that public administrators, surveyors and coroners may or may not be salaried offices.

Section 9 prohibits the release or exemption of any county or the inhabitants thereof, from the payment of their share of state taxes.

Section 10 prohibits the incorporation of municipal corporations by special laws, but only general laws to be enacted by the legislature, and lays down [illegible] for the legislature in making such enactments and for the voting upon such charters by the voters of the territory affected before their acceptance.

Section 11 gives authority to counties, cities and towns to make and enforce all necessary police and sanitary regulations within their respective limits.

Section 12 prohibits the legislature from imposing taxes upon public or municipal corporations, but allows the legislature by general laws to vest in such corporate authorities power to assess and collect such taxes.

Section 13 prohibits the taking of private property for the corporate debt of any public or municipal corporation except in the mode provided by law for the levy and collection of taxes.

Section 14 prohibits the making of any profit out of public moneys by the officer having possession and control thereof, under penalties of felony.

Section 15 requires the immediate deposit for the benefit of the [illegible] of all public moneys coming into the hands of any public officer.

The committee further recommended that as the office of county clerk is a new one the committee on schedule provide for its election at the election to be held for the adoption of the constitution. The report was read, laid over one day and ordered printed under the rule.

Mr. Dyer submitted a proposition prohibiting state, city and county officers from accepting any pass or railroad [illegible] under penalty of forfeiture of office; referred to the committee on corporations other than municipal.

IN COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

Consideration Resumed of the Article on Judiciary

On motion of Turner the convention went into committee of the whole on the judicial article with Mr. Cosgrove in the chair.

Mr. Turner moved that the several sections of the article as amended be read for the information of the committee, and this was done.

After the reading sundry clerical errors were corrected by Messrs. Gowey, Minor, Griffitts, Hands and others.

Mr. Sharpstein proposed an amendment to section 5 and moved to reconsider the section for that purpose.

The chair ruled that no vote of reconsideration was necessary, as the whole article, having been considered seriatim, was now before the committee for final action, and open to any amendment.

Mr. Turner raised a point of order against this decision of the chair. The chair affirmed its ruling and Mr. Turner appealed. The chair was sustained without taking a rising vote.

Mr. Sharpstein's amendment, simply grammatical in character, was moved and adopted by a vote of yeas 23, nays 14.

Mr. Griffitts claimed no quorum voting.

The chair said there was no way of compelling members to vote in committee of the whole and so long as a majority was present it did not matter how many voted.

Mr. Turner moved that the committee rise and report to the convention the amendments which had been made to the judicial article.

The chair said he would entertain that motion of course, though it was manifestly incomplete, though possibly the gentleman intended it to be incomplete.

Mr. Griffitts moved to amend by adding the words "and recommend such amendments adopted."

The motion to rise as thus amended was adopted and the committee rose.

FOUR INSTEAD OF SIX YEARS

The Convention Adopts the Amendment of the Committee

The president resumed the chair. Mr. Cosgrove reported that the committee of the whole had considered the judicial article and made sundry amendments which it recommended the convention to adopt.

Mr. Griffitts moved that the convention adopt the amendments recommended by the committee.

At Mr. Turner's request the amendment changing the terms of the superior court judges from six to four years was excepted from that motion.

Mr. Griffitts's motion was then adopted, except as to Mr. Turner's request.

The motion to adopt the committee amendment making the terms of the superior court judges four instead of six years was put. Mr. Turner asked for the ayes and noes; granted.

Mr. Mires moved a call of the house; adopted, ayes 23, noes 16.

The roll was called. All were present save two and those were excused.

On motion of Mr. Reid of Olympia, further proceedings under the call were dispensed with.

The roll was then called, in accordance with Mr. Turner's demand, and the committee's amendment was adopted by ayes 44, noes 15, as follows:

Ayes—Messrs. Allen, Berry, Bowen, Browne, Burk, Clothier, Cosgrove, Crowly, Dallam, Dickey, Durie, Dyer, Eldridge, Fairweather, Glascock, Godman, Gray, Griffitts, Hayton, Henry, Hicks, Hungate, Jamison, Jeffs, Joy, McCrosky, McDonald, Mires, Morse, Power, Schooley, Sharpstein, Shoudy, Stevenson, Stiles, Suksdorf, Sullivan, Travis, Van Name, West, Mr. President.

Noes—Messrs. Coy, Gowey, Jones, Lillis, Lindsley, Manley, Minor, Moore, Morgan, Neace, Prosser, Reed, T. M., Reed, J. M., Sturtevant, Turner, Weisenburger.

Mr. Dyer explained his vote by saying that in committee of the whole he had favored six years, but bowing to the will of the majority as there expressed he should vote aye now.

Mr. Mires moved an amendment giving his county a separate superior court judge.

Mr. Reed, of Olympia, asked whether the article should not be engrossed.

The president said that was not necessary, as the printer could probably make it out from the clerk's copy.

Mr. Warner moved to suspend the rules and put the article upon its passage, but withdrew to allow Mr. Cosgrove to make an amendment.

Mr. Cosgrove moved to so amend that justice court cases as low as $100 could be appealed. This was debated at some length, but finally Mr. Cosgrove withdrew his motion to allow Mr. Allen to move (which he did) to strike out all limitation as to the right of appeals; lost, ayes 16, noes 30.

Mr. Warner renewed his motion to suspend the rules and place the article on its third reading; lost by a rising vote, numbers not stated.

The article was then laid over one day and ordered printed under the rule.

Mr. Gowey proposed an amendment to section four, which failed, and no further amendments being thought of by anybody for the moment, the judicial article goes to the printer and gets a brief rest. So does the convention, which proposes to go to a clam bake to-morrow while it is being printed.

Mr. Dickey called up the report of the committee on miscellaneous subjects on prohibition and moved that the convention adopt the minority report, which recommends a prohibitory article in the constitution.

On motion of Mr. Reed of Olympia, it was postponed to Wednesday at 10 A. M.

The report of the committee on federal relations relative to the jurisdiction of United States laws was tabled temporarily at the request of the chairman of the committee through Mr. Jones in his absence.

THE PUBLIC PRINTING

After a Long Discussion, the Committee's Report is Tabled

Mr. Power called up the report of the committee on printing, etc., recommending an article allowing the legislature to contract for public printing and establish a public printing office after the year 1900.

Mr. Sullivan of Tacoma moved that the subject lie over until Wednesday; lost.

Mr. Gowey wanted to pass the subject for to-day by consent.

Mr. Power had no objection. There was no hurry about it; in fact, it wouldn't do much harm if it never went into the constitution at all. In that case the legislature would handle it.

Mr. Minor moved indefinitely to postpone, believing it useless to cumber the constitution with such an article; lost.

Mr. Fairweather moved to adjourn; lost.

Mr. Sullivan of Tacoma moved to lay the subject on the table; lost.

Mr. Dyer opposed the article and believed a public printer should be an elective officer.

Mr. Gowey proposed a substitute providing that the legislature shall provide by law for the public printing.

Mr. Sullivan of Whitman believed in electing a public printer and leaving the legislature to provide his fees, bonds, etc.

Mr. Dyer moved to refer the subject back to the committee on printing, with instructions to prepare and report a provision for a public printer.

Mr. Turner opposed this motion, believing the employment of public printers and public printing offices to be wrong in principle and that the contract principle was the correct one.

Mr. Gowey favored his substitute as leaving the matter where it belonged, in the hands of the legislature.

Mr. Stiles was opposed to the motion, opposed to the substitute and opposed to the original report. The whole business had no place in the constitution, in his judgment, but was a matter for the legislature.

Mr. Reed of Olympia heartily endorsed the views of the last speaker. He did not want a public printer and thought the legislature was competent to manage this matter.

Mr. Griffitts did not like the motion nor the substitute, but did think this convention ought to do something about public printing.

Mr. Dyer said his motion to refer back to the committee bound no one, but only afforded some gentlemen time to be heard by the committee.

Mr. Lowe inferred from the tone of the debate thus far that this convention would not provide for a public printer. He was opposed to further reference.

Mr. Dyer's motion was lost.

Mr. Gowey's substitute was taken up.

Mr. Minor reiterated his opposition to cumbering the constitution with such useless and improper matters.

Mr. Brown said leave it to the legislature.

Mr. Gowey's substitute was lost.

Then Mr. Gowey moved to so amend the article as to merely provide that the legislature shall provide for the public printing to be done by contract.

Mr. Allen moved to strike out the whole article, but the president declined to entertain that motion, the proper way to reach that end being by direct vote on the article.

Mr. Schooley moved to indefinitely postpone.

Mr. Minor said the gentleman was out of order. Indefinite postponement cannot be moved twice in the same day under our rules.

The president sustained the point.

Mr. Eldridge was opposed to putting such a short and unimportant matter as this into a separate article of the constitution. He moved that the article lie on the table and proposed later to insert this simple provision on this subject into the report of the committee on miscellaneous subjects. Adopted. Ayes [illegible], noes [illegible].

ADJOURNMENT

A Morning Session Will Be Held Prior to the Clam Bake.

Mr. Gowey moved to adjourn to Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. The inwardness of this motion was to allow the members the whole day to attend the clam bake to which the Olympia chamber of commerce had invited the convention, and which invitation the convention had by vote accepted, but Mr. Gowey did not make any explanation of his motion.

Mr. Coleman moved to adjourn, and this, by carrying the convention over to 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, will give a session of the convention in the forenoon before departure for the clam bake in the afternoon. [illegible] Mr. Coleman gave as his reason for his motion.

On a rising vote the latter motion prevailed, ayes [illegible], noes [illegible], and the convention will in consequence get up an appetite for its clams by a morning's work.

"PARSON" DAVIES GETS ANGRY

He Is Not To Be Twitted About Backing Kilrain

NEW YORK, July 22.—Parson Davies of Chicago arrived here to-night. He is stopping at the Continental hotel. At the Hoffman house the Parson met E. J. Van Horn, a sporting man from North Platte, Neb. Van Horn won $30,000 on Sullivan and began blackguarding Davies, who was a Kilrain man, about the backing he had given Kilrain and Jackson, the colored pugilist. Davies became angry and knocked Van Horn down. Davies says that Jackson can get $20,000 backing to fight Sullivan. He is here to arrange the fight if possible.

Two Mexican Horse Thieves Lynched

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., July 22.—A crowd of masked men took two horse thieves from the guards at Kelly, Socorro county, last night and lynched them, after which they riddled their bodies with bullets. This terminates the existence of the gang of horse thieves who have been operating in this section for a long time. The men hung were Mexicans.

A Third Trial for the Petrel

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The board of officers who were detailed to conduct the official trial of the gunboat Petrel Saturday, will recommend that a third trial be made. The trial was a failure, due to the inexperience of some and the fatigue of others of the firemen.

THE POLITICAL PHASES

An Informal Caucus of Republican Delegates.

A SLIGHT FEELING OF ALARM

The Democrats May Steal a March on the Republicans—A List of Washingtonians Who Would Like Office

OLYMPIA, W. T., July 22.—It was dull to-day in the convention and but little business was transacted. No final action was taken on anything except to adjourn, which carried the convention over until to-morrow at 9 o'clock, and this was looked upon as a piece of discourtesy, for the convention on Saturday agreed to accept an invitation of the board of trade of Olympia to attend a clambake at Butler's Cove on Tuesday. It is probable that the convention will adjourn early in the day to-morrow and give the delegates a chance to sample the Sound clams.

There were quite a large number of absentees at roll call this afternoon on account of business, sickness in families and various excuses. Even the venerable member from Adams, Mr. Buchanan, was not in his seat. The failure of the boat to leave Tacoma also delayed a number of members.

AN INFORMAL CAUCUS

Shortly after adjournment the republican members of the convention got together and held a sort of informal caucus up stairs in the capitol building. After an interchange of opinion, it was agreed to push matters as speedily as possible and complete the work of the convention at an early date, as most of the committee work is well in hand. It is probable that night sessions will be held next week. Gas fixtures were placed in the capitol building to-day.

Dr. Minor of Seattle presided at the caucus, and Finlesley of Union Ridge acted as secretary.

The meeting of republicans was no doubt brought about by the rumor which has gained currency here in the last few days that the democrats intended to delay matters as much as possible and let things drag until toward election. Whatever truth there may be in this statement, it is certain that there has not been much political division in any of the votes on important questions that have thus far come up in the convention.

A FEELING OF ALARM

There does not appear to be any cohesive power among the republicans, or at least not near as much as there is among the democrats. This leads me to repeat what I heard from a republican delegate to-day on my way down from the capitol. He said:

"I wonder if our side knows that the people of the new state will hold us responsible for the making of this new constitution? They certainly will, and for that reason we ought to stand together on essential matters. Every committee of the convention has a majority of republicans, and yet as soon as reports are made, the first to attack them are republicans. That is not all. The democrats are thoroughly organized in the territory and the republicans are at sea. Here is an important election to take place in October. No arrangements have yet been made to call a state convention together, the first in the new state. Heretofore territorial conventions have met to nominate a delegate to congress and one or two minor offices, but here is a convention which will nominate all the state offices provided by the new state constitution, from governor down, including the new state judiciary. The chairman of the territorial committee, Colonel C. G. Lyon of Seattle, is averse to calling a state convention until after the constitutional convention adjourns. Nearly the whole of the committee is opposed to that idea, and think the convention should be called on or about the 28th of August, at Spokane Falls. This call would infuse new life into the republicans and set the party machinery in motion.

"The constitution makers will doubtless get through with their work about the 10th or 15th of August, and a state convention held in the latter part of that month would give but about four or five weeks for the most important campaign ever held in the territory."

THE OFFICES.

It was ascertained while Hon. John B. Allen was here last week that he recommended Captain Thomas R. Brown of the Pacific Navigation Company, Tacoma, for United States marshal. It is certain that President Harrison promised Harry Wilson of Spokane that he should have that place. Wilson, a former Indianan, worked hard for Harrison at the Chicago convention. Who will be the United States district attorney in case Brown secures the marshalship is not known; probably [illegible] of Seattle.

Hon. A. M. Cannon of Spokane, who is here and who has announced himself as a candidate for United States senator, has found a very strong following on both sides of the mountains. Ferry of Seattle is the only one mentioned for governor, thus leaving the main chance for picking up the senatorship from west of the Cascades.

[illegible] Bennett and [illegible] are mentioned for state senators in Pierce county from among the republican ranks, and Chauncey W. Griggs will undoubtedly be nominated by the democrats from the same county. He is a millionaire and the head of the St. Paul & Tacoma Lumber Company.

Colonel [illegible] Howing's name is often heard in connection with the state senatorship from Thurston.

Colonel [illegible] S. Howlett's friends intend to press him for governor, and Colonel J. S. Haines is mentioned for lieutenant governor. Ex-Governor Watson C. Squire has plenty of friends who want him to be a senator.

[illegible] Struve of Seattle would like to be United States district judge, but the probabilities point toward Judge Kalkins of Spokane for that position.

AT THE CHEYENNE RIVER AGENCY.

The Opposition of White Swan Renders the Progress Slow

CHEYENNE RIVER AGENCY, Dak., July 22.—This morning Charger, Little No Heart and Swift Bird signed with a number of their followers.

White Swan still remains obstinate and no impression so far has been made on him. His band is the largest on the reservation and consists mainly of old and hostile Indians, which were for some years held by the war department as prisoners of war. These Indians have made little progress and are unwilling to permit any of the others to improve.

In spite of the opposing efforts, however, the commissioners are slowly progressing. Two hundred and fifty-five have signed.

A Demonstration by Strikers

WEST SUPERIOR, Wis., July 22.—The strikers again became riotous this morning and drove off workmen. The mayor, with the militia, dispersed the crowd and arrested half a dozen. Since the arrests everything has been comparatively quiet. The determined attitude of General Griffin and his soldiers was the only thing that prevented serious trouble to-day.

A SURPRISED PUGILIST

Knocked Out Just as He Thought He Had Won.

CLEARY WHIPS MIKE BRENNAN

A Surprising Battle of Fourteen Rounds Fought in Island County, Washington Territory—Another Knock-out.

PORT TOWNSEND, July 22.—Thomas Cleary whipped Mike Brennan in the fourteenth round, for a purse of $500, at Willow Point, Island county. Over 100 spectators, mostly sporting men from the Sound and Oregon, were in attendance. Betting was lively, big odds being given on Brennan.

Brennan's second was George Casson, of San Francisco, and John Holland attended Cleary. Dan Cameron, of Portland, was referee, and George Turner timekeeper.

Both pugilists were in good training. Brennan weighing 162 pounds, twelve pounds heavier than Cleary. Nearly $3000 changed hands.

Brennan won the choice of positions.

The first and second rounds were devoted to light, scientific blows. Both cautiously sparred for openings. Brennan, from the commencement to the fourteenth round, had the best of the fight. Cleary fell in the third round to avoid punishment, and Brennan got in the first blood, hitting Cleary's left cheek.

The fourth round opened with vicious blows from both contestants. They clinched, when Cleary hit Brennan, and a claim of foul was disallowed.

In the fifth round Brennan scored the first knock-down, by laying Cleary across the ropes, and had he followed up would have won the fight.

Betting was forty to twenty in favor of Brennan. Cleary's face had been pummelled into mince meat, and when he came up in the seventh round his backers gave the fight up. Brennan received no punishment whatever up to the fourteenth round.

From the eighth to the thirteenth round short range fighting was done, all in Brennan's favor. Several clinches were made and two fouls claimed by Brennan, but not allowed.

Cleary was badly used up when the fourteenth round opened. His face began to swell, and he was saturated with blood. He opened viciously, Brennan getting in a few good blows. When he attempted to follow them up Cleary suddenly landed a right-hander on Brennan's jugular, which dazed him until another under the left ear brought him to the ground. He came to again and a blow on the top of the head knocked him senseless for thirty seconds, Cleary winning the fight in fifty-six minutes.

COMPLETELY KNOCKED OUT.

SPOKANE FALLS, July 22.—Tom Fraser, who claims to be the champion wrestler of Canada, winning a belt from Duncan Ross, attempted to stand before Pat Killen four rounds for $100 at the Bella Union theatre to-night. He weighs 236 pounds, while Killen weighs 205. In the first round Killen hit Fraser two blows on the neck in succession, flooring him, and practically settling him. In the third round Killen hit him a stinging short left arm blow on the jaw, knocking him out. He lay on the floor thirty seconds, and the referee declared in favor of Killen.

STATE HOUSE ITEMS.

Indian War Claims—Insurance Companies Must Assign Mortgages.

SALEM, Or., July 22.—It will be remembered that Secretary of State McBride collected from the United States and paid into the state treasury a few weeks since about $38,000 on account of the claims of the state for indemnity for expenses in the Indian wars of 1877-78. It was thought at the time of that payment that the above sum was all that was claimed by the state on that account, but THE OREGONIAN's correspondent is informed by the secretary of state that he is pressing a claim for a further allowance, and is now making efforts to secure evidence in further support of the claim. Secretary McBride is confident that he will be able to collect several thousand dollars more on account of his claim.

Under the law passed by the last legislature some foreign insurance companies offer to deposit $50,000 in mortgages upon Oregon real estate, but refuse to assign the mortgages to the treasurer. State Treasurer Webb declines to accept them, unless assigned.

Articles of incorporation were filed to-day in the secretary of state's office by the East Portland Mill and Fixture Company; capital stock, $10,000; incorporators, M. W. Parelius, H. M. Lambert, W. Merdrum.

The governor has appointed the following notaries public: P. L. Willis, M. G. Munly, and W. Scott Beebe, of Portland; T. G. Halley, of Pendleton; J. F. Moore, of Prineville; Frank O. Hull, of Mehama; C. W. Fulton, of Astoria, and J. L. Calvert, of Hubbard.

A STATION AGENT MISSING.

A Theory That He May Have Been Carried Away by Indians.

LIVINGSTON, Mont., July 22.—It is reported here that the agent at Laurel station is missing. This station is at the junction of the Rock Fork with the main line. C. A. Lewis has been agent there for some time. Since 9:30 last night he has not been seen. His books seem to be all right, and nothing unusual in his conduct has been noted. One theory advanced to account for his disappearance is that the Indians have got him. The station is only a short distance from the reservation, and a short time ago one of the Indian houses was fired and burned to the ground by sparks from locomotives on the Rocky Fork railroad. The Indians have been to Lewis several times to make him pay damage for the road, which of course he could not do. Yesterday they came there in a hostile manner, and they may now be holding him for ransom. This, however, is only a theory. Further developments are expected to-morrow.

A CROOKED CONSTABLE.

A Warrant Issued for His Arrest for Deceiving a Cyprian.

TACOMA, W. T., July 22.—A warrant was sworn out to-day for the arrest of Constable Isham, connected with Judge Best's office, on a charge surrounded by very peculiar circumstances.

Police Officer Dowden swore out the warrant charging him unlawful cohabitation. Officer Dowden stated that Isham, who is a married man, visited a resort of the demi monde last Saturday night, and told one of the inmates that he had a warrant for her arrest. The constable, it is said, then offered her the favor of not arresting her until Monday if she would entertain him. The girl learned subsequently that Isham had no warrant for her, and had the warrant sworn out for the constable. The name of the girl is Violet Goodwin.

The constable cannot be found, and the police are anxiously inquiring after his whereabouts.

THE GOVERNOR OBJECTS.

He Will Try to Prevent the Payment of the Railroad Commissioners.

SALEM, July 22.—Governor Pennoyer to-day took Secretary of State McBride to task for issuing warrants for the pay of the railroad commissioners last week. The governor didn't know it until his arrival here to-day. He told McBride that these would be the last he would issue until the case was decided; that he (the governor) would obtain an injunction. McBride replied that he would issue them until restrained by a court of competent jurisdiction; that he considered the case settled by the recent decision of the supreme court.

THE NEBRASKA EXCURSIONISTS.

They Left Seattle Last Evening En Route to Portland.

SEATTLE, July 22.—The members of the Nebraska press excursion arrived in Seattle at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and were driven about the city and otherwise entertained by the citizens. They left for Portland this evening and will arrive there to-morrow morning; hence they will go down the Columbia river to Astoria, Ilwaco and Clatsop Beach. After the return to Portland the party will divide, some going home via San Francisco

WESTERN WASHINGTON NOTES.

Aberdeen Lighted by Electricity—An Encounter With Robbers.

OLYMPIA, July 22.—Aberdeen, Chehalis county, was lighted by electricity for the first time last Saturday night. There was great rejoicing over the event, as it was quite a success.

An attempt was made to rob one of the saloons in this city last night, but the approach of the police drove off the robbers. As it was, several shots were fired on both sides without any fatal results.

The clam bake to-morrow in honor of the convention will be an immense affair.

LINN COUNTY NEWS ITEMS.

Sudden Death of a Well-Known Lady—An Absconder Brought Back.

ALBANY, Or., July 22.—Mrs. John H. Waters, of Brownsville, whose husband is a prominent and wealthy resident of that place, died suddenly this morning of a congestive chill.

Constable Burkhart arrived from Blair, Neb., to-day, having in custody Sylvester Nicholls, the absconding street railway contractor who jumped his contract and flitted away with six horses upon which he had given a chattel mortgage.

WITHOUT FOOD OR SHELTER.

Fearful Experience of a Typhoid Fever Patient at Seattle.

SEATTLE, July 22.—To-day a man was found lying in the brush on Denny hill suffering from typhoid fever. His tongue was swollen and he was hardly able to speak. He gave the name of Peter Olsen and said he had lain out of doors eight days and nights without food and water, being delirious a part of the time. Feeling unwell, he had spread his blankets in the thicket to lie down and rest, and then was unable to rise or summon help. Olsen was taken to the hospital.

FROM ASTORIA.

A Portland Lady Injured—Two Fishermen Drowned.

ASTORIA, Or., July 22.—The county commissioners this afternoon awarded the contract to C. W. [illegible] and R. J. Morrison to build a road from Olney, this county, to the county line of Columbia county, thirty-one and nine-tenth miles, for $5600.

Danny Ross, 12-year-old son of Ex-Sheriff Ross, died yesterday evening from the effects of a gunshot wound in the forehead, received while hunting at Knappa ten days ago.

Mrs. J. P. Howe, of Portland, was hurt at the seaside yesterday by falling from a train which started suddenly, throwing her off. She was not injured seriously.

Last Saturday a capsized fish boat was seen going out over the bar. It now transpires that it was boat No. 8, of the Columbia River Canning Company. The captain's name was Thomas T. Thompson. The boat puller was unknown. Both men are supposed to have been drowned. This is the first fatal accident on the bar this season.

THE GRANT MURDER.

Two Wives of the Dead Man Now in Tacoma.

TACOMA, July 22.—Mrs. Mary Grant, of San Francisco, who claims to have married C. C. Grant in Nebraska in 1873, arrived in the city last night. Startling developments are expected, as Grant married a lady in Spokane Falls two months ago, and who is also in the city.

Sheriff Price states that he has a clue to the whereabouts of Martin, who murdered Grant on Friday morning last, and that his capture may occur before morning.

THE IDAHO CONVENTION.

Successful Filibustering by the Democrats—The School Lands.

BOISE CITY, July 22.—The Idaho constitutional convention (nineteenth day) considered the report on public indebtedness and subsidies. State indebtedness was limited to 1½ per cent. of the assessed valuation, excluding territorial indebtedness at the time of admission as a state. The section restricting county, city, town and school-district indebtedness was stricken out, but neither state, county, city nor other subdivision is permitted to pledge its faith or credit thereof in aid of any individual, association or corporation.

At the afternoon session, Beattie moved to go into committee of the whole on suffrage. The democrats opposed, on the ground that this was taking the question out of the regular order, and many absentees desired to be present when it was discussed.

The republicans insisted, and the democrats began to filibuster. Roll calls, motions to adjourn, to lay on the table, and for a call of the house followed in succession, with ill-feeling manifested.

After a struggle of over an hour the democrats offered to make suffrage a special order for Thursday morning, at 9 o'clock. The republicans refused.

Judge Ainslee requested the democrats not to vote, whereupon President Claggett suggested a brief recess for consultation.

At the end of forty minutes, the republicans conceded the demand of the democrats.

The convention proceeded to consider the report of the committee on municipal corporations. Its provisions prevent special legislation in regard to cities, and were all adopted, after being harmonized with this work of the morning.

Following this the educational article was considered. Section two places the public schools of the state in charge of a board of education, consisting of the superintendent of public instruction, secretary of state and attorney-general. The legislature is required, as soon as practicable, to provide for the establishment and maintenance of a thorough and uniform system of free public schools throughout the state. Losses to the school fund not to be made up by the state.

Parker of Idaho county moved that school lands be held for rental only. The motion was supported by President Claggett and Vineyard of Alturas.

Allen of Logan moved to reserve one-half of the land from sale.

McConnell said the school lands of Oregon were wasted in order to get a certain democrat in the United States senate.

Mayhew of Shoshone and Pefley of Ada supported Parker's amendment, lest some republican should use the lands to promote his ambition in Idaho.

Poe of Nez Perces and Cheney of Latah said leased lands deteriorated so fast that they soon became worthless.

Harkness of Bingham said the lands are worth more now than they will be ten years hence, when the water rights are all taken.

Parker's motion was lost, and the convention adjourned.

THE SITUATION EXPLAINED.

BOISE CITY, July 22.—Some days ago the committee on elections made majority and minority reports, the former by the republicans, the latter by the democrats. The majority report would prevent the voting of Mormons, while it would also allow the legislature to make other limits and terms for preventing votes from persons holding higher allegiance to organizations they deem above that of the state and United States government. The minority report is framed as to cut off legislation, and in the eyes of anti-Mormons leaves a loophole through which the Mormons may crawl and secure control of the political power. A proposition to take these up in committee of the whole caused to-day's filibustering, which blocked all of the business for some time. Hundreds of Mormons withdrawing last fall to evade the test oath and vote, makes the anti-Mormons anxious to give the legislature power to make limits and restrictions, so that the Mormon church now colonizing portions of Idaho may not participate in politics. This question has caused the chief trouble during the convention.

THE MONTANA CONVENTION.

Consideration of the Question of Membership--Committee Reports--Etc.

HELENA, Mont., July 22.—There were a number of vacant chairs when the convention assembled to-day.

Warren moved that consideration of the preamble be postponed until Thursday morning, on account of the absence of these members, but the convention voted it down.

Middleton and Rickards thought no action should be taken now.

Burleigh was ready, he said, to go ahead. There were enough members present to carry on the business, and there was no cause for further delay.

It was finally agreed that the preamble be laid over until 10 o'clock to-morrow. It was referred back to the engrossing committee.

Proposition thirteen, relative to the boundaries of the new state, was passed after a favorable report by the committee, by a unanimous vote.

Maginnis moved that it be placed below the preamble, and designated as Article I. Objection was made to consideration at this time and it was referred to the committee on phraseology.

Kennedy proposed that the military affairs proposition be No. 2.

Reed offered an amendment to the effect that those who had declared their intentions to become citizens should be subject to military duties.

The proposition is still being discussed as to the question of citizenship.

The committee of the whole recommended that Rickard's resolution, that the legislature shall have no power to make an appropriation for any purpose whatever for a longer period than two years do not pass. Also that Joy's resolution on suffrage do not pass, but recommended its consideration with the main report of the committee on suffrage.

A resolution was carried that the legislature may establish a bureau of labor and industry.

The convict labor question caused a long discussion. Toole moved to amend by prohibiting the leasing of convict labor.

Middleton asked that convicts be allowed to work.

Dixon offered an amendment allowing them to work, but prohibiting interference with free labor, leaving the road open to the legislature to provide work.

Dixon's amendment was lost by a vote of 48 to 9. Adjourned.

THE TWO DAKOTAS.

A Discussion of the Single House Proposition at Bismarck.

BISMARCK, Dak., July 22.—The Williams constitution, a synopsis of which was given in the Associated Press dispatches last night, is the subject of much discussion. All who read it admit that the convention would not make any serious mistake in adopting it, but it is not in harmony with some of their hobbies, and must, therefore, undergo amendment and demoralization, if not be entirely laid aside for a new-made document.

A number of proposed articles were introduced in the convention to-day, and it was ordered that all standing committees be required to report by Thursday of the present week. This is done to force the convention to business.

The event of the day was the consideration of a resolution providing for a single body legislature. The leading champion of the one house idea was Stevens, of Hanson, who delivered a carefully prepared speech. Rev. Ezra Turner, of Baltimore, and Parsons, of Morton, also spoke in favor of the one house plan. The question was discussed in committee of the whole, but the committee rose without reaching a vote.

THE SIOUX FALLS CONVENTION.

SIOUX FALLS, Dak., July 22.—Only a few delegates were present to-day at the convention, and the session lasted but ten minutes.

The only business presented was a resolution instructing the joint committee, on the part of South Dakota, that in the case of any uncertainty as to the location of the seventh standard parallel, the boundary line between the two Dakotas as fixed by the omnibus bill, to come to the best possible agreement with the commission of North Dakota and report the same to the convention.

News Items From Independence.

INDEPENDENCE, Or., July 22.—Miss Minnie Waller, of Monmouth, left to-day, accompanied by friends, for Spokane Falls, where she is soon to become the wife of M. Winters, now in business there.

The city council is to take measures to place heavier penalties on persons disturbing the peace, as was done by the Smiths and Kays on Saturday. Much indignation has been expressed that the fine imposed was only $8, when the offense called for at least $50 each. The citizens are determined to maintain law and order, and are taking proper steps.

E. W. Cooper's new bank is up to the second floor, but on account of a scarcity of brick it will not progress any further for a week or two. J. R. Cooper has sold here half a million brick this year, and will burn half a million more.

The city has asked for bids on the new city hall, to be of brick.

Harvesting is progressing rapidly, and the extensive steam threshing outfits will make short work of it. All crops are good.

Seattle Will Pay the Insurance Due.

SEATTLE, July 22.—The Seattle Insurance Company met to-night and made arrangements to pay the insurance due from the Vancouver, Ellensburgh and Seattle fires. The amount still due is $36,000.

The Tacoma Fire.

TACOMA, July 22.—The loss at Monday morning's fire is estimated to be $9500, partially covered by insurance.

THE BLYTHE CONTEST.

Announcement of the Discovery of the Alleged Will.

MRS. ASHCROFT ON THE STAND

The Sight of a Cartoon Drawn by a Court-Room Artist Sets Her to Weeping—Her Life in London.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—When the trial of the Blythe case was resumed to-day, the counsel for Florence Blythe notified the court that testimony had been discovered which might make some change in the case. He claimed that a copy of the will of Thomas H. Blythe had been found in Los Angeles.

The counsel for the opposition insisted that the present proceedings be continued, and claimed that no will had been found. The taking of testimony was accordingly resumed. It was not announced when the alleged will would be produced.

After Attorney Highton had finished cross-examining Mrs. Ashcroft, his colleague, Attorney Bulkley, asked witness a number of questions relating to her husband's treatment of her. She again testified that she had written a letter demanding money from Blythe, under compulsion, her husband threatening to beat her severely if she didn't write it.

A scene was created by the attorney handing witness a cartoon drawn by some person in the courtroom, for private amusement, representing a man brandishing a club over the head of a woman, who sat at a table carefully penning a letter. Bulkley's inquiry if her husband's attitude at the time was like that represented in the drawing caused witness to burst into tears, and she was finally compelled to leave the room. Her counsel entered an indignant protest, and demanded the paper, which the other side refused to give until advised to do so by Judge Coffey.

When witness returned Bulkley continued his cross-examination, his questions evincing a desire to show that witness had, on different occasions, introduced and represented Florence as the child of other persons than Blythe. Bulkley then produced a document purporting to be an attested copy of the register of births of the district of London, in which appears the name of Florence Blythe, with the name of Julia Blythe as mother, but with the space for the father's name left blank.

Mrs. Ashcroft said emphatically that she had given the name of Thomas Henry Blythe to the man in charge of the register, but that he evidently neglected to put it down.

In reply to some close questioning, witness denied that she knew Ashcroft or David Davis, who was present at their wedding, before 1876.

A copy of the marriage certificate was produced, in which the residence of witness did not appear as the place she had testified it was when testifying to the marriage. Her counsel, however, interposed objection, and the copy of the marriage certificate was temporarily withdrawn. The case then went over until to-morrow.

THE CALIFORNIA WINE INDUSTRY.

Causes Assigned and Remedies Suggested for Its Present Depression.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—California is struggling hard with her wine industry. In general, the making of wines is carried on this year at an actual loss, and the outlook is anything but encouraging.

Some days since a local paper sent to prominent wine-growers throughout the state a circular calling attention to the present depression in the wine trade, and asking the growers their opinion of the cause of the depression, and the remedy therefor. A large number of letters have now been received.

The following are some of the causes given by the correspondents: A lack of consumers, ninety-five per cent. of Americans do not drink wine; wine put on the market too new; wine made out of inferior grapes; the dealers' combination to depress the market; lack of storage facilities; railroad rates too high; adulteration of wines, etc.

A few of the correspondents are unable to see a remedy for the depression, and suggest that it would be better to plow up the vines and plant the ground in fruits or other vines that will bring returns for the labor. Co-operation is one of the remedies suggested; also co-operative depots in each district for labeling, preparing and marketing the wines; co-operative brandy distilleries for turning the poorer grades of wine into brandies, and co-operative warehouses for storing the wines of the district until age gives them proper value.

Several correspondents write most discouragingly. One of the heaviest wine makers in the state claims that ordinary wine from grapes on ordinary land will cost to make not less than 12 or 15 cents per gallon, while all that even last year's wine will now bring is from 7 to 9 cents. Cases are then cited where heavy sales have been made by an actual loss of 3 to 5 cents per gallon.

THE STANFORD UNIVERSITY.

It Will Be Opened for Scholastic Training in the Fall.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—In an interview concerning Leland Stanford, jr., University, Senator Stanford said that no appointment of a president or of professors had yet been made, although a number of applications had been received for professorships. The main building is now ready to be partitioned into class rooms, the engineer is now East studying the internal arrangements of the leading institutions of learning there, and the work will go on when his plans are adopted.

The senator said that it was his intention to commence scholastic work by the next school year.

Dormitories are being built to accommodate 260 boys, and suitable accommodations will be provided for girls, who will be admitted to the university on equal terms with boys.

A FICKLE GIRL.

Sensational Elopement of a Young Couple at Chico.

CHICO, Cal., July 22.—A sensation has been created here by the elopement of Miss Eva Adkins, a young lady of this place, with Neil Hubbs.

Miss Adkins was to have been married this evening to Raymond Bierce, son of Ambrose Bierce, the San Francisco journalist. Hubbs was an intimate friend of young Bierce, and was to have been his best man at the wedding.

Last evening the young lady told her mother that she would spend the evening with her bridesmaid, but she boarded the train with Hubbs and went to Sacramento, where they were married. The couple are expected to return here to-night.

CALIFORNIA NEWS ITEMS.

Wheat, Hops and Salmon.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—Wheat cables from Europe have grown stronger during the week. The Russian crop outlook is now said not to be so bad as at first reported. Exporters are buying but little. Trading generally is not very brisk. Options had fair attention in a speculative way, and were dullish. Flour in general is very strong because of wheat reports. Little is sold however.

Hop reports from New York state appear rather favorable for a good crop. There is nothing remarkable in the market.

Columbia river salmon, one pound four dozen case, $1 80@1 95.

A Rancher Robbed of a Large Sum.

JACKSON, July 22.—George Dieudul, a rancher living one mile from here, was robbed Saturday morning of $2080 in coin and a pass-book on the Union Savings bank of San Francisco calling for $4000. The victim sold his interest in a ranch to his brother, Joseph, and received the purchase money only four days before. He kept it in his trunk locked. It is alleged that while the family was absent a few minutes the trunk was wrenched open, and the money and bank-book stolen. There is no clue to the thieves.

The Whistling Buoy at Fox Rock.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—The steamer Columbia arrived from Portland and Astoria this morning. Captain Bolles reported that on the trip down he sighted on the morning of July 20, a whistling buoy marked "Fox Rock," in latitude 40 deg. 57 min. north and longitude 124 deg. 30 min. west, which is about thirty miles north of Cape Mendocino. The whistling buoy was apparently all right, and was whistling merrily when the steamer passed her.

The San Francisco Relief Fund.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—The executive committee of the committee for the relief of the Johnstown and Seattle sufferers held a meeting this afternoon for the purpose of settling up the accounts. The total amount received by Louis Sloss, treasurer, was $77,857. The amount sent to Johnstown was $52,543, and that sent to Seattle $20,219, and the amount of the expenses, $67 80, leaving a balance on hand to be disposed of as the committee see fit of $5027 70.

San Francisco's Bonded Debt.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—That portion of the auditor's annual report which exhibits the bonded debt account of the municipality has been completed. It presents a very gratifying state of that portion of the city's finances. June 30, the total debt of the city was $1,801,000. There is now, however, in the sinking funds, $898,188 available to pay this, making the net debt $902,812.

Collided With an Iceberg.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—The whaling bark Lagoda arrived from the Arctic to-day. May 4 she encountered an iceberg and had her bows stove in. She was temporarily repaired at Ounalaska with the assistance of carpenters from the United States steamer Bear, and then made her way to this port.

A Chinese Cigarmaker Fatally Shot.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—Lee Ah Tai, a cigarmaker was shot in the back and fatally wounded to-night by Wing Ah Hai, a highbinder. The shooting occurred on Sullivan alley and is supposed to be the outgrowth of the war between the rival factions of cigarmakers.

Sentenced to Ten Years' Imprisonment.

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—Frank Toole, convicted of attempting to murder his wife, was to-day sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary. He served time once before for assaulting her. Toole is a blacksmith, and is said to own $40,000 worth of property.

Died From His Injuries.

TULARE, July 22.—James Hopper, yardmaster of the Southern Pacific railroad in this city, who was injured while making a switch last night, died this morning. His wife arrived from Los Angeles a few minutes after he died.

Shipping.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—Arrived—Whaling bark Lagoda, Ounalaska. Cleared—Ship Rufus E. Wood and steamer Empire, Nanaimo. Departed—Bark California, Port Townsend.

The Kindergartens Opened.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—This morning all of the free kindergartens were opened, and were crowded with little ones anxious to take up the studies of the term.

A Mill Burned Near Truckee.

TRUCKEE, July 22.—Oliver Lenkey's mill at Prosser creek was burned yesterday morning at 3 o'clock. The loss is $30,000. The cause of the fire is unknown.

BASEBALL.

Indianapolis, Pittsburg, Philadelphia and Washington the League Winners.

CHICAGO, July 22.—The home team could do nothing with Boyle's delivery to-day, and, although Dwyer's work was almost as efficient, a wild throw by Pfeffer in the second lost them the game. Score: Chicago 1, Indianapolis 2. Base hits—Chicago 3, Indianapolis 6. Errors—Chicago 3, Indianapolis 2. Batteries—Chicago, Dwyer and Farrel; Indianapolis, Boyle and Buckley. Umpire—McQuade.

CLEVELAND, July 22.—Sowders pitched for the Pittsburgs to-day. Cleveland lost the game because of O'Brien's inability to throw the ball over the plate. Score: Cleveland 2, Pittsburg 7. Base hits—Cleveland 12, Pittsburg 9. Errors—Cleveland 3, Pittsburg 0. Batteries—Cleveland, O'Brien and Zimmer; Pittsburg, Sowders and Miller. Umpire—Strief.

PHILADELPHIA, July 22.—Philadelphia and New York played a see-saw game this afternoon, which abounded in numerous slovenly and brilliant plays. Score—Philadelphia, 10; New York, 9. Base hits—Philadelphia, 11; New York, 16. Errors—Philadelphia, 4; New York, 4. Batteries—Philadelphia, Casey, Buffinton and Clements; New York, Keefe and Ewing. Umpire—Lynch.

BOSTON, July 22.—With the bases full in the seventh inning to-day, Daly, Boston's new pitcher, gave the men enough bases on balls to force in two runs, and lost the game. Score—Washington, 3; Boston, 2. Base hits—Washington, 6; Boston, 8. Errors—Washington, 1; Boston, 1. Batteries—Washington, Ferson and Daley; Boston, Daly and Ganzel. Umpire—Powers.

THE INDIAN SCHOOLS.

General Morgan Proposes to Inaugurate a Government System.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Indian Commissioner Morgan said to-day that in the management of the Indian schools he proposed to be governed by the principles laid down by the Mohonk conference, so far as they can be put into practice.

He is in favor of a system of non-partisan public schools, exclusively under government control. He will, as opportunities present themselves, substitute a system of government schools controlled by the Indian bureau for the contract school system. He has renewed for the coming year most of the contracts with religious organizations already existing. He was obliged to do this, because he has not at once the means to substitute government schools for the existing ones, but he has refused to extend the contract system to the new schools.

There are now about fifty boarding schools conducted under contract, and about 160 under the exclusive care of government teachers.

General Morgan says that he does not anticipate any difficulty over the principle that the teachers should be appointed from the states within which the schools are situated. While giving preference to residents of the state, he will not appoint incompetent teachers because he or she is a resident of the state, nor refuse to appoint a competent one because he or she is not a resident.

FOR WANT OF EQUITY.

Chief Justice Fuller Dismisses a Suit of Gov. Waterman's.

CHICAGO, July 22.—Chief Justice Fuller has dismissed the suit of Robert A. Waterman, governor of California, against P. M. Alden, the executor of his brother, J. S. Waterman, for want of equity.

James S. Waterman, a wealthy lumber dealer at Syracuse, Ill., died in 1883. Governor Waterman and his partner, one Porter, were indebted to him for $10,000 as a firm, and after his death they paid this indebtedness to his executor, P. M. Alden. They subsequently discovered a clause in the will of James S. Waterman, which was executed eleven years before, in which he expressly released all the indebtedness of his brother to him. Then Governor Waterman filed a bill against Executor Alden to recover $10,000 which he had paid to him in ignorance of the release clause in the will.

Chief Justice Fuller decided that the release provision applied only to the personal obligations of the deceased's brother, and not to the firm's indebtedness. He decided that the governor was not entitled to recover and dismissed his bill.

THE RIO GRANDE WESTERN.

Annual Meeting of the Stockholders and Election of Directors.

SALT LAKE, July 22.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Rio Grande Western railway was held in the company's office in this city to-day. Nearly all the stock was represented.

The following directors were elected: W. J. Palmer and George Foote Peabody, of New York; D. C. Dodge, of Denver; Joseph D. Potts, of New York; Barthold Schlesinger, of Boston; Charles J. Canda, of New York; Joseph C. Parish, of New York; J. Kennedy Todd, of New York, and Fred Olcott, of New York.

With the exception of General Palmer, Colonel Dodge and Mr. Peabody, the directors are all new men. The board will meet in New York in a few days and elect officers.

THE GENERAL LAND OFFICE.

Two Principal Candidates for the Commissionership.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—It was rumored here to-day that Ex-Congressman Thomas, of Illinois, had been appointed commissioner of the general land office, but on investigation the rumor could not be confirmed. It is believed that this place will be filled shortly, and the two prominent candidates are Thomas and the present assistant commissioner, Ex-Governor Stone, of Iowa.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS.

To Prosecute a Government Suit.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The attorney-general to-day appointed James L. Caldwell, of Nebraska, special assistant attorney to aid in the prosecution of the government suit brought against the Union Pacific Railroad Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company under the act of August 7, 1888, with special reference to the operation of the telegraph lines owned by the railroad company.

Everything Quiet at Panama.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The latest reports from the isthmus of Panama received at the state department show that it is very quiet there. Chili, desirous of adding to her laboring population, furnished 5000 of the canal workmen who were thrown out of employment transportation to her ports.

To Be Judge Advocate at San Francisco.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Major Edward Hunter, of the judge advocate general's department, has been ordered to San Francisco for duty as judge advocate.

THE TENANTS' DEFENSE LEAGUE.

A Meeting of the Parnellites to Discuss the Matter.

LONDON, July 22.—The Parnellite members of parliament met to-day to discuss the subject of the Tenants' Defense League.

A resolution was adopted declaring the object of the new organization to be to counteract in a legal manner the landlord combinations formed for the purpose of extorting unjust rents and arrears, imposing inequitable terms of purchase, stimulating evictions and destroying the security of tenants in their holdings. Tenants are invited to join the league.

The meeting fixed the proportion of the poor law valuation at the lowest annual donation.

Russia Preparing for War.

LONDON, July 22.—The Russian government has already allocated a large tract of land to the Mussulman population of Kasardah. Such gifts are unusual, and are usually the prelude to a conflict with Turkey. The governors of Odessa and Kischentaff, in recent addresses to the troops are said to have hinted that Russia was preparing to advance southward.

A Report Adverse to Future Sovereigns.

LONDON, July 22.—The report of the committee on royal grants advises that at the proper time a law be passed providing that future sovereigns shall have no claim to parliamentary provision for their grandchildren.

The French Billiard Champion Defeated.

PARIS, July 22.—Vignaux, the French billiard champion, and Eugene Carter played a match game of cushion caroms here to-night. The game was won by Carter, who scored 100 points against Vignaux's forty.

The New Lord Mayor of Dublin.

DUBLIN, July 22.—Mr. Kennedy, formerly member of parliament for Cavan, succeeds Sexton as lord mayor of Dublin.

Murat Halstead Has a Fatal Malady.

CINCINNATI, July 22.—It is reported that Murat Halstead has been informed by his physicians that he is suffering from an incurable malady, and that death is a question of a short time only. Halstead is now in Europe.

Another Effort to Release Burke.

WINNIPEG, July 22.—To-morrow the solicitor for Martin Burke, the Cronin suspect, will make application for a writ of habeas corpus, on the ground of insufficiency of evidence.

A Cattle Thief and His Mistress Lynched.

THE TRANSCONTINENTAL ROADS

Three Members of an Exploring Party Drowned in the Colorado—The Pilgrim Monument—An Odd Will.

DENVER, July 22.—A Cheyenne, Wyoming, special says: A telegram received to-day announces the lynching at Sweetwater of Jim Averill and Kate Maxwell, a woman who lived with him as his wife. Averill was postmaster at Sweetwater, which consists simply of a station contiguous to a number of ranches.

Averill drifted into the Sweetwater country four years ago and at once took up a government claim. He was soon joined by the woman, who took a claim adjoining the town of Bartwell. Both were recognized as hard citizens. The woman was one of the most daring riders in the country. She rode, man-fashion, the most vicious brutes with abandon, and in roping cattle could take a place with the average cowboy.

For a long time both have been under suspicion as cattle rustlers. They have rapidly been accumulating a herd, and as they came to the country without anything, it was regarded as evidence against them. This year they turned loose 25 freshly branded yearling calves, which completely satisfied the stockmen that they were mavericking, which particular act led to the lynching.

From the particulars received it is known that a small band of masked men succeeded in getting both to the door. They were captured after a desperate struggle, and after being bound and led some distance away, were together strung up to the limb of a tree, and then the bodies were riddled with bullets. This is the fifth hanging that has taken place in the same section since last spring.

THE PACIFIC ROADS.

Two Sessions Held Yesterday by the Transcontinental Association.

CHICAGO, July 22.—The Transcontinental Association held two sessions to-day, but did not reach any of the momentous questions, which are expected to produce sensational developments. There is a possibility that the quarrel between the Northern and Union Pacific Companies over the Puget Sound business may be amicably adjusted, and that the latter will cancel the notice of its withdrawal. The action of the Southern Pacific in giving notice of withdrawal was brought up, but its consideration was postponed.

DROWNED IN THE COLORADO.

Three Men Lose Their Lives on an Exploring Expedition.

DENVER, Colo., July 22.—A party of surveyors, headed by Frank M. Brown, left here May 23 for the purpose of exploring the Colorado river with a view to building a railroad by that route to the Pacific coast.

To-day the following telegram was received from the expedition:

KANAB, Utah, July 22.—Frank M. Brown was drowned in the Colorado river, in Marble canyon, July 10, by his boat being capsized while running the rapids. He was thrown into a whirlpool and was unable to get out, while the other man in the boat was thrown into the current and carried down about 600 feet and landed. All the other boats of the expedition went through the rapids safely, and the last boat reached the point where Brown was thrown, one-half minute after he sank for the last time.

Five days after, while working our way down, another boat was driven against a cliff, and in pushing it off was capsized, and two boatmen, Peter W. Hasborough and Henry C. Richards, were both drowned before assistance reached them. It is impossible to recover any of the bodies.

THE PILGRIM MONUMENT.

Many Prominent Men Expected To Be Present at the Dedication.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., July 22.—Preparations for the dedication of the great Pilgrim monument which occurs August 1, are well under way. Plymouth is in holiday attire. Arches span the streets through which the procession is to pass, and band stands and pyrotechnic frames are in place. The cost of the monument is $150,000. The pedestal and tables were built by contributions from all parts of the United States. One hundred invitations have been extended to gentlemen of national distinction. W. C. P. Breckenridge, of Kentucky will be the orator, and John Boyle O'Reilly the poet of the day.

President Harrison is confidently expected to honor the scene by his presence, and his predecessors in the presidential office, General Hayes and Mr. Cleveland, are also counted on to be numbered among the guests. Secretary Blaine has already accepted an invitation to be present, and has promised to use his best endeavors to secure the attendance of other members of the cabinet.

The design of the monument is by Billings, the Boston architect. The figure of Faith was the gift of the late Oliver Ames, uncle of the present governor of Massachusetts. Toward the figure of Morality the commonwealth of Massachusetts appropriated $10,000, and for the accompanying relief the state of Connecticut gave $3000. The figure of Education, with its tablet, was the gift of Robert Mather, of Hartford, Conn., while for that of Freedom, with its tablet, an appropriation of $16,000 was secured from the United States government, mainly through the exertions of John D. Long.

Law and its tablet were paid for by contributions from the legal fraternity throughout the country. The corner stone was laid August 27, 1859, with impressive ceremonies, which included addresses by Richard Warren, of New York, then president of the Pilgrim society, General N. P. Banks, then governor of Massachusetts, Hon. Salmon P. Chase and Colonel John T. Heard, then grand master of the grand lodge of Masons.

The dedication exercises bid fair to be worthy of the occasion. The Masons are to perform the dedicatory ceremony in the early forenoon. The speech making is all to take place at dinner, which will be served at 1 o'clock in the hall of the Pilgrim Society. In the evening there is to be a grand ball and illumination, and a fireworks display on a scale never before equaled in this section.

The people in the vicinity are enthusiastic to a degree never before known, and headed by William T. Davis, who presided when the cornerstone was laid, have resolved to make it the greatest in their annals.

AN ODD WILL.

A Small Fortune Left to Two Dogs and an Adopted Daughter.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 22.—An odd will has been filed for probate here. Mrs. Mary Ann Schaub died without relatives. She had surrounded herself by a number of dogs and cats, and had accumulated property valued at about $6000, and this she leaves in trust for two of her favorite dogs. She provides that a sufficient sum shall be reserved from her property to maintain these dogs in comfort as long as they live, and especially orders one bed and clothing for their occupancy. A young lady whom she adopted some years ago, is made the second beneficiary, upon condition that she will live in the house and care for these dogs for a period of eight years. If, at the end of this term, her task has been dutifully performed, she shall come into possession of the entire property.

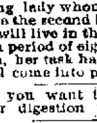
A QUAKER'S DOZEN.

Richard Stege, the well known proprietor of the Quaker Dairy, No. 30 Ellis St., San Francisco, last week sent the following letter to the Edwin W. Joy Co.



"My family have been taking Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla now for months with splendid results. Our experience has been that after taking it regularly for a short time and getting the system started right, an occasional dose thereafter keeps the system in perfect condition. A peculiarity of your vegetable compound inexplicable to me is, that it does not lose its effect, but seems to accomplish the same results continually. As a liver and bowel regulator and corrective it is perfection. We would not be without it in our house. In fact I have just bought a dozen bottles to get the reduced price."

A. M. Rowe, of 523 Jones street, S. F., also writes that it has been his habit for years to awake in the mornings with a headache and an exhausted feeling; but since the first bottle he has had no return of his old time debilitating headaches.

THE FEDERATED TRADES.

A Regular Meeting of This Organization Last Evening.

The Assembly to Procure a New Hall—Reports From Several of the Unions—Locked-Out Tailors Hopeful of Winning.

The regular meeting of the Federated Trades Assembly was held last night at their hall Captain John O'Brien in the chair C Bomberger secretary

A communication was read to vacate the hall on or before October 1, 1889 also from Albert Fuhram from the United Brewery Workmen's Union of the Pacific coast in regard to the Weinhard boycott.

The report of Ex-Secretary H C Hincken, giving a statement of the work of the assembly during the past six months its progress in solidarity and membership—one large union increasing in membership 270 per cent, also its failures the number of boycotts and their results, together with trades-union statistics of the city of Portland, the report was received and ordered recorded

Information was asked for in regard to a suit of the Stone Cutters Union vs the United States government for over time on the Cascade locks This is to test the eight hour law on government works referred to the Stone Cutters Union

Delegate H C Hincken, of the Tin Sheetiron and Cornice Makers Union appropriately referred to the accidental death of John Zimmer, who was a worthy craftsman and a good citizen

The Journeyman Tailors Protective Union reported the lockout of their members by Charles E Lane Mr Lane asked for a new scale of prices and it being lower than the one authorized by the union was not allowed The delegate stated that the shop was guarded by union men for the purpose of persuading tailors not to take work there he understood that the services of a policeman had been asked to protect non union men from intimidation he thought there was so little for a policeman to do that he did not stay there long as the union laid no hands on persons going to work there He gave the name of a small shop that received workingmen's patronage that was now helping them out. Next Sunday the unions would give a picnic when all their friends could assist them He believed they would win as they held all the best workmen, and that with the assembly's assistance they would hold out for their scale of prices.

The Cigarmakers union reported progress in the addition of two new union shops with an increased patronage for their goods

B C Failing reported the organization of a union of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners in East Portland with a charter membership of fifty-eight.

Five other unions reported the state of trade good The Bakers union reported the boycott still in progress against the Oregon German Baking Company, and furnished the unions with a circular giving the names of fifteen restaurants and hotels that patronize the non union bread, cake, etc.

H C Hincker and C Bomberger were appointed a committee to secure a new hall

By request of Alfred Fuhrman general secretary of the United Brewery Workmen's Union of the Pacific Coast, a special committee consisting of C. Bomberger H C Hincker, Mr Front and the president to see Henry Weinhard was appointed.

A motion prevailed for the secretary to acknowledge the receipt of a copy of the session laws of 1889, coupled with the thanks of the assembly, from Hon Frank C Baker state printer

It was moved and carried that the American Federation of Labor labor-day be celebrated with a picnic, Monday, September 2, is the day set apart for this purpose B C Failing, C Bomberger, H C. Hincken, H Wascher, and others spoke of their efforts to organize the building trades into a league in which the principle of a more perfect solidarity was well set forth Also reference was made to the combination for the better advancement of all producers, of the American Federation of Labor and the K of L. The necessity of all trades and labor unions affiliating with their national organizations, as all national union men must support card men, was also advocated In the assembly, however, there is but one local union, and that as yet has no national organization.

Receipts of the evening, $71 50

Adjourned to meet August 12. The place of meeting will be advertised

WOMEN CHRISTIAN WORKERS

Regular Meeting of the W C T U Yesterday—The Business Transacted

The Women's Christian Temperance Union held its regular meeting at their hall yesterday afternoon.

The state president's circular letter was brought before the union and according to her suggestion collection cards duly signed by the president and secretary were given to different members to receive collections thereon for special state purposes

The president appointed Mrs Miller to confer with Miss Farrott in regard to her becoming a solicitor for membership for the W C T U

A circular letter from Miss Elizabeth Irvine of Albany, was read, stating that the state minutes of the last convention were in press but money sufficient to defray the expense of printing had not been sent in, and requested that local unions fulfill their agreement, also 50 cents per month pledged to the payment of state debt assumed by the state president, be paid

By a vote of the union an order was drawn on the treasurer for $5, the amount pledged by Portland union for fifty copies of the minutes also $2.50 for the payment of the state department it being in arrears for five months

Suggestions and words of encouragement were listened to from a lady of Salem who is an earnest worker in the Juvenile Good Templars Lodge of that city.

The entertainment at the Wednesday evening temperance school passed of successfully with essays speeches recitations and music refreshments being served by the president.

The gospel meeting on Saturday evening was well attended and much interest was taken in the proceedings

WHAT THE GRAND LODGE DID DECIDE

A Note From Grand Master Workman T A Stephens

PORTLAND July 22.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

On behalf of the A O U W of this grand jurisdiction, permit me to reply to the article on A O U W taken from some Victoria B C paper and published in your issue of this date, as the same is misleading to the members of this order

In first place, no such ruling as charged in said article, was ever made What the grand lodge did decide was that members of the order must make their beneficiary certificates payable either to a relative or some person dependent upon them

The reason for this ruling, you will perceive, was just. When the order was originated its main feature was the protection of the widow and orphan to the extent of $2000 After being in existence a few years it was discovered that the members of the order, in a large number of cases, had hypothecated their beneficiary certificates and at their death the amount had to be paid to the person to whom the same had been hypothecated, thus leaving the widow and orphans destitute and diverting the amount from its proper purpose, to wit the protection of the widow and orphans of our members.

To obviate this, and carry out the cardinal principal of our order it was decided by the supreme lodge that beneficiary certificates should only be issued to some relative of the member, or some person or persons dependent upon such member, with the right at any time to change the name of the beneficiary in accordance with the laws of the order The present grand lodge of A O U W referred to simply carried out the law of the supreme lodge, which the brotherhood must see is a wise law, for it secures to the widow and orphans, or any relative named in the beneficiary certificate, the $2000 and they are assured that it cannot be diverted from its proper source

Respectfully Yours

A NEWCOMER'S COMPLAINT

NEWBERG July 20

In THE OREGONIAN of July 19 in "Newberg Notes," is the following

"Never in the history of Newberg has there been such activity in every branch of trade as at present, and immigrants are too numerous to mention. All the hotels are overrun, and a great many people are camping in the groves and parks. We shall have 2000 people by January We now have, by actual count, 1 74."

Nothing could be farther from the mark of truthfulness than the above It is a statement of fact which does not exist. At present Newberg has about 500 people and the parks are not full of camping immigrants. Newberg is a nice little town, located in the best portion of the best country in Oregon and would become a thriving little city if her business men would concentrate the business and energies for her upbuilding, instead of trying to down each other and publishing such falsehoods as the above to lure immigrants here. If they would use their energies to start manufactories, if they would start the cannery going and make a market for fruit, and give employment to the people, instead of starting a whisky hell hole to foster idleness, vice and crime, then indeed would immigrants come and a statement like the above might be true and the people already here would not have to seek employment in Portland, Alaska and the East, as they are now doing

Dr. Meyer Gives Another Version of the Fight at Fulton Park Station

Dr F A Meyer's name having been used in connection with an item regarding a brutal assault said to have taken place at Fulton Park station in yesterday morning's paper, the doctor yesterday made the following statement

"The facts of the case," he said, "are that a big burly loafer relying on his superior size, tried to bilk a hackman about half his weight, out of his honestly earned carriage hire, by taking the homeward bound train The hackman asked the man a number of times for his pay, and seeing there was no other help for it as no officer was present, he pitched into him and gave him a well deserved licking There was a rough kind of justice about it and all myself and others did was to see that the bilk had fair play and that no others but the man he had so swindled attacked him He was not beaten by a number of men as has been stated, but the little fellow polished him off pretty thoroughly, and I doubt very much if the big loafer will make a complaint against him "

PORTLAND'S BIG HOTEL

The Work Is Being Pushed With Great Vigor

Work is being pushed ahead on the big hotel with vigor Mr Hobkirk who has the contract for putting on the roof and finishing the carpenter work of the two upper stories has about completed his job Mr Mackay will begin the work of plastering to day The ceiling of all the rooms is to be lathed and plastered and then furred and lathed and plaster again partly as protection in case of fire and partly to deaden the floors

On the sidewalk on the Sixth street side of the building are three large boilers which are to be placed under the sidewalk to heat the building and run the ice machines, elevators and other machines in the building Work on the outside of the building is rapidly approaching a finish and the huge structure presents a very handsome appearance

The two towers at the corners of the east wing with their slated roofs and corner windows and ornamented wood work add greatly to the appearance of the building

"SALMONED DOGS"

Another Correspondent Tells What He Knows About the Subject

PORTLAND July 22 1889

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Many valuable dogs are poisoned by eating salmon The other day a correspondent asked for a remedy and a number of answers have been published giving various methods of treatment for distemper If a dog has eaten a large quantity of salmon and is not immediately treated there has been no remedy discovered which will save his life Liberal doses of lard or sweet oil mixed with sulphur will counteract the poison if taken immediately after the salmon has been eaten and when no large quantity of salmon has been consumed Strange as it may appear, however, there is a treatment which will ever afterward render salmon harmless to a dog no matter how much he may eat Cut the salmon crosswise into steaks half an inch thick leaving the black substance which lies along the backbone of the fish in each steak If the dog is grown, strong and healthy give him about three such steaks if cut from a fish weighing not more than thirty pounds This will make him a sick dog, but he will survive, and when he recovers can thereafter eat all the salmon he wants without being injuriously affected If a young or not very strong dog, then a smaller quantity of fish should be given

Gunpowder in a lump of meat is good in cases of distemper

NAVAL DEFENSES OF THE PACIFIC COAST

Extract From a Pamphlet by Capt Sampson, U S Navy

The naval defenses of the Pacific Coast may for the present be comprehended in the defenses of the towns and cities situated on the shores of San Francisco bay and Puget Sound The registered and enrolled tonnage of San Francisco is greater than that of any port of the United States except New York and the tonnage duties paid to the United States were greater at San Francisco during the past year than at any other port except New York At the completion of the canal connecting the Atlantic and the Pacific, San Francisco will lose part of the trade she now enjoys, yet must continue the emporium of a vast country which is to grow greatly in wealth and population Indeed, the increase of trade that will come to San Francisco through the canal may more than balance what is lost through the same cause Every consideration indicates that San Francisco is to be a great city and it is important that it should have ample protection, because of its present importance as well as its future greatness

The bay of San Francisco is only one mile wide at its entrance but the water is sixty fathoms deep at the same point, which renders the use of mines uncertain It is probable, however, that the bay could be defended by forts against capture But forts could not be placed to protect the city from bombardment. Next to New York it is the most important port to secure against blockade This object can be accomplished only by a naval force Owing to the fact that no assistance can be sent from any other part of the coast, it is necessary that the vessels assigned to this duty should be more numerous than if it were possible to combine the defenses of two or more sections to meet an enemy that might be of considerable strength, as may be done at points on the Atlantic coast It is also necessary in order to protect the smaller places growing up to the southward of San Francisco, none of which can be protected by land defenses It is therefore considered necessary to station the following vessels at this point

No of Vessels	Type	Guns 14 in	Guns 12 in	Guns 10 in	Cost
3	1st	6		6	$10 00 000
2	Rams				2 000 000
15	Torpedo Bts				1 500,000

The important places on the Columbia river need no naval protection except to prevent a blockade For this purpose it will be necessary to station a sufficient force in Puget sound, which can act to protect both the Sound and the Columbia river against blockade

Puget sound is rapidly growing in importance, and is destined to become the site of an important naval station The tonnage of this Sound reported for the past years makes it rank next after that of New Jersey, and, according to states, it ranks eighth in the Union The present isolated position of this part of our country its proximity to the boundary the fact that it faces a strongly fortified naval station of England at Victoria renders it prudent to provide an adequate defense Suitable land defenses should be at once placed at the narrowest part of Admiralty inlet and the magnitude of the naval defenses should keep pace with the growing commerce of the locality in order that it may have unobstructed ingress and egress. The present promise of this commerce demands that no less than the following should be provided

No of Vessels	Type	Guns 14 inch	Guns 10 inch	Cost.
2	1st	4	4	$7,000,000
15	Torpedo-boats	.	.	1,500,000

FOUGHT THE CASE EIGHTY YEARS.

Termination of a Kentucky Lawsuit That Began in 1811.

LEXINGTON, Ky July 14—The term of the circuit court of this county, which has just closed, disposed of one of the oldest suits pending in Kentucky and one of more than ordinary interest, having been in the courts since 1811, known as that of Wickliffe's executors vs Breckinridge's heirs The case has been to the court of appeals several times, and at last, after costing in the neighborhood of $1,000,000, has been decided in favor of the heirs of John Breckinridge The suit was originally based upon an alleged contract made between John Lee, on the one part, and John Breckinridge and George Nicholas of the other part dated August 6 1795, whereby Lee sold to Nicholas and Breckinridge one-half of a tract of land in Clark county, Ky, containing over 9000 acres for the sum of $50 per 100 acres Henry Clay was mixed in the case originally The original claim out of which this case arose amounted to only about $5000 but the amount of land involved the present value on account of the rich iron deposits and the natural tendency of litigants to fight as long as possible have combined to keep this case on the docket these many years The record is very voluminous, and many of the papers in the case are rare curiosities dating back to the foundation of the commonwealth

HIS SECRET DIED WITH HIM

The American Aluminum Company Can No Longer Make Metal of Clay

FINDLAY O July 17—Fred J Seymour manager of the American aluminum works of this city died last week and it is now discovered that the secret of the Seymour process of making aluminum from clay died with Mr Seymour At the factory of the company where for the last two years aluminum has been successfully produced the information is given out that the patents on the process embraced every detail except the actual conversion of the material used into the finished metal It was the custom of Mr Seymour to admit no one in the room where he worked at the critical moment when the molten mass was to be divided into its constituent parts He is supposed to have treated the liquid matter with some chemical which separated the precious aluminum from the dross, and it is this part of the process he carried with him to the grave The company, by reason of this fact, has not as yet determined whether to abandon the works or continue under some new process

AGRICULTURAL.

We hear and see a great deal concerning trusts, and the need of legislation to put them down, but a little reflection will convince any person that it will not be easy to accomplish this most desirable object. The question arises as to the power of law to affect individual rights and business organization If two men in the same business conclude to go into partnership rather than remain in competition, what law can prevent it? It is done every day in the year as a means of self-preservation If two men can go into partnership, why cannot four? What shall be the limit of business organization? If all the business men in a community choose to take stock in an organized enterprise no one objects as in case of a railroad and why not pursue the same policy with regard to any other business enterprise?

The question is When shall the line be drawn between legitimate enterprise and conspiracy to defraud the public? Any business firm or organization has the object in view to make money by trade, and if one firm has its branches in different parts of a city and in different towns of the country no one objects That trusts and combines become odious as monopolies and even assume the shape of conspiracy there is no doubt and that such conspiracy can become dangerous to public weal there is no doubt but with so many resources at hand and so many experiments at command the question is, How can the public protect itself from the effect of such combination and define the line between legitimate enterprise and unlawful combination

The farmer's the one who is in a great measure involved in this question and suffers by the greed of trusts Let farmers demand that a fair share of their own class shall sit in the legislature and make the law and then see to it that good men are selected as such representatives Farmers have their especial rights and must defend them in person They have the numbers to do it with and can only blame themselves if their rights are not fully represented and protected It is a natural conclusion that if farmers do not secure their own interests they lack the independence and ability to do so In truth there are many very competent and well educated men among farmers who are ably competent to act as legislators and if such men are put in the lead we shall see good results The world at large holds the farmer accountable for his own success or failure and with numbers and intelligence at his command he can only blame himself if he gets the worst in his dealings with the world

HARROWING POTATOES

A friend in Pennsylvania wants to harrow corn and potatoes this year for the first time He asks whether in harrowing one should always follow the rows and how soon after planting the harrowing should be done He has only a spring tooth and a spike tooth harrow I should not want to use either of these harrows for this purpose although the latter might be used once about a week before the potatoes come up if they were planted some four inches deep or as our friend is new at the business we will say about ten days after planting, before the sprouts on the potatoes have made much growth With a Thomas harrow I harrow about three times The first time soon after planting the last time usually just as the sprouts are coming out of the ground Some seasons two harrowings are enough All I want is to keep the surface mellow and let no weeds see daylight I want to be sure the weeds are cleaned out just as the potatoes come up Before they start again we can take care of them with cultivators and avoid all hand work and horse hoes When harrowing the first two times we keep horses between rows (there are ridges over drills so we can see them) and last we harrow crosswise to level the ground and be sure of killing all weeds

It does little harm to have the horses step on the hill or where the hill is to grow but it seems necessary to harrow crosswise once We have harrowed until the tops were eight inches high but with the tools we have now for cultivating it will seldom pay to use a harrow after one can see the rows In five years we usually cultivate between the drills before using a harrow at all At this time we cultivate deep going the horse all he can do The advantage of doing it at this time is that there are no little plants to cover The first should be deep dug as as the operations of preparing the ground and planting pack it considerably, and it needs thorough stirring up before the potato roots occupy it This should be much sooner than most people would suppose unless they have investigated After my plants are five inches high I do not want any cultivator teeth to go down more than two inches Let the crop have its feeding ground undisturbed from that time on The tool teeth across from row to row in a very few days after the plants see daylight

I notice that some writers do not like to use the harrow as it breaks so many plants This shows that they do not understand the business First we should have a jointer on the plow so as to bury all rubbish sods etc Then prepare the ground with tools that will not tear up anything which the plow has buried Plant three or four inches deep and use a slanting toothed harrow when the ground is dry enough so that the teeth will not clog with grass roots and soil as they will when it is too wet Under such conditions they can follow my harrow for hours and hardly see a plant injured although many of them are just coming up A bright slanting ⅜ inch round steel tooth well sharpened seldom injures a potato plant on my farm but like many other tools the harrow cannot do the managing that is necessary to perfect success

A friend of mine said lately that he could get plenty of help to keep his potatoes clean by hand, and the harrow injured them too much for him So could I get plenty of help and did for years but I have found that with my Thomas harrow I can do the work in a few hours myself and do it better, and save about $50 a year—T B Terry in Ohio Farmer

SAINFOIN

Mr J F Fairfield Iowa writes Recently when at Red Cloud Neb we were shown what is said to be a kind of German clover which seems to do well in this country—much better than the red clover The German name of it is esparcet and the English is sainfoin Can you give us any light on this clover plant its habits and whether it is adapted to our Western climate? The seed above referred to was brought from Germany by Mr Albert Kuehn of Red Cloud Neb who thinks it a good forage plant for the West

Esparcet is the general European name and is taken from its Spanish name Sainfoin is the English name obtained from Latin derivatives Its botanical name is Hedysarum onobrychis Like all the legumes it requires a soil containing lime or marl It is much cultivated in France Germany, Austria Spain and Italy, and to a considerable extent, in England Like Lucerne (alfalfa) it has a deep tap root stands drouth well and when supplied with moisture gives large crops of very rich forage to it is said to increase the supply of milk but like clover or alfalfa if cows are turned on it hungry, it is likely to produce hoven It has this advantage over alfalfa Its stalks do not become hard when in blossom but the amount of fodder is less than that of alfalfa or clover Its seeds are very rich in nutrition It grows to the height of three feet on rich soil and it will grow on dry sands and gravel where few plants will thrive Sainfoin is apt to winter kill in severe weather when young but after the third season it stands cold winters well Fowls eat the seeds eagerly and it is reputed to make hens lay—Prairie Farmer

POTATOES AS STOCK FEED

A Vermont correspondent of the American Cultivator writes that journal The tables giving comparative value of stock foods value potatoes at $1 50 per ton when fed raw and $3 to per ton when cooked or about 10½ cents per bushel for the raw and 20 cents for the cooked This estimate is based on a valuation of timothy hay at $12 per ton

I kept a larger portion of my potato crop of the past season than usual for spring sales, on account of the low prices during autumn and early winter The result was no sales after the beginning of March, and several hundred bushels of potatoes stored in cellar to be disposed of in some manner The question of feeding so as to obtain the best results now arose Potatoes were substituted for oats, one feed a day for feeding horses, the quantity given being one-half greater than the grain. One pair have done a heavy spring's work on this feed and are at this time in better condition than could be expected from feeding grain alone Colts given the same feed did exceedingly well, and went to pasture in fine condition The results of this trial proved that without doubt the potatoes were worth more than half the value of oats per bushel for horse feeding, both young stock and those doing heavy work

Fed to cattle there was less satisfaction with the results of the potato ration A number of 3 year old steers were fed half a bushel each a day given at two feeds As soon as one feed was consumed they commenced to bellow for more and kept it up with little intermission until time for next feed They turned their noses in disdain from the best of hay grew lank and hollow and actually appeared to lose flesh during the two months that the potato ration was continued Turned to pasture the first of June at a time when they should be ready for the shambles they have the appearance of requiring half the summer to make a good article of beef

Potatoes cooked by boiling and mixed with meal have been fed to several fattening hogs The results obtained have been good In regard to the value received it is hard to form an estimate, the cost of fuel and labor of handling it at busy season of the year being considerable While there is no doubt but potatoes have considerable value as hog feed yet taking everything into consideration I would prefer to sell at the door at twenty cents per bushel to being to the trouble of cooking and feeding

PAPER AS A NON CONDUCTOR

The advantages arising from the use of non conducting walls in dwelling cellars cold storage warehouses ice houses, are not nearly as well understood as they should be Of all the materials used in building wood is the best and brick the next best non conductor while thick paper is useful in combination with other materials from its air tight qualities and great pliability Wooden boxes of flowers and plants lined with thick paper are shipped thousands of miles in the dead of winter, and sometimes carried in a wagon for an hour in a zero temperature without injuring the contents I once shipped a lot of apples in dry goods boxes to Columbus a distance of 110 miles The railroad agent promised that the fruit should reach its destination the following day but it was near the holidays and I took the precaution to line the boxes with newspaper The weather suddenly turned cold the freight through some carelessness was carried 300 miles out of the way and reached its destination fourteen days after shipment with the thermometer 4 deg below zero Yet the apples were not frozen except a few around a knot hole where the paper was broken Having occasion last winter to deliver a few bushels of apples on a cold day I put them in paper flour sacks and allowed them to stand several hours in a warm room They were then carried two hours in an open sleigh with the temperature at 14 deg above zero, without freezing, and could doubtless have been carried two hours longer without injury Being in a temperature of 70 deg when taken out it took a long time to reduce this to 27 deg (the temperature at which apples freeze) protected as they were by the impenetrable walls of the paper sacks

Where cellars are under an unwarmed part of the house it is often difficult to keep them warm even when banked The cold comes through the floor overhead Ceiling the under side of the joists with matched lumber will often remedy the difficulty Many dollars could be annually saved in stables if they were lined with building paper kept in position and protected with a lining of boards The boards need not be more than half an inch thick, but should be well seasoned and the edges matched Two half inch boards with paper between make an excellent partition between a stable and a carriage-house, keeping the stable warm and the carriage-room free of ammonia so destructive to paint and varnish—American Agriculturist

HINTS ON PLANT CULTURE

Water house plants with cold tea

One of the most beautiful ornamental plants is the castor oil plant Its leaf is elegant and of a deep green the plant growing ten to fifteen feet high in a single season though it requires rich soil and a large quantity of manure to be grown to perfection

Fine rich compost, or rich earth is the best fertilizer for flowers Roses should be cultivated by raking the surface of the ground around them It injures some varieties to stir the ground deep Superphosphate is an excellent fertilizer for shrubs and other hearty bloomers

In watering flowering plants be careful water does not get in to the crowns

Geraniums that have done their share of blooming in summer may be cut back in the fall then set in a sunny place for two or three weeks given no water to speak of, they will then flower beautifully in winter

By taking the sweepings from the poultry house and applying on the flower beds a considerable increase in the fertility could readily be secured When it can be done, take pains to work well into the soil

My experience in planting rare and valuable plants received in a drought from distant points warrants this advice Pot them shade partially for a week and do not transplant till vigorous growth has begun and the weather is propitious Winds affect newly set plants more seriously than the sun From 100 to 500 plants may be secured from one mother strawberry plant by judicious treatment Give ample space pick off all the blossoms and stimulate with compost, phosphate guano wood ashes or liquid manure—Green's Fruit Grower

THE HOME DOCTOR

There are certain simple facts in regard to the care of the sick that every young girl should know before she is called upon to preside over a home of her own Physicians say there are few women capable of making a poultice a cup of beef tea or a piece of toast properly If one has never had the care of an invalid, there may be some excuse for not knowing practically how to make a poultice but one can at least inform herself as far as the theory goes A cold, clammy poultice is positively harmful

To make a linseed poultice pour a quantity of warm water into a tin basin, stand on the back of the range, and scatter in the linseed meal, stirring with a knife until of a proper consistency In the use of the water you must be governed by the size of the poultice required If it is too dry it will not hold together, if too wet it is lumpy and uncomfortable It should be moist without being sloppy Now take a clean piece of old muslin a couple of inches larger all around than the poultice is to be spread it with the mixture cover with another piece of muslin and quickly baste over an inch all around Do this without removing it from the hot dish, on which it should be carried to the bedside If it is necessary to fasten it on do this with folds of bandaging and cover with a compress of flannel to retain the heat A piece of oil silk is less clumsy and will keep moisture from the bed clothes

There are many different formulas for preparing beef tea but the simplest and best is as follows Cover one pound of lean beef from the round with a pint of cold water Have the butcher chop it fine as for Hamburg steak beat it in the water with a silver fork for ten minutes place over the fire simmer for twenty minutes strain and set aside to cool in order to remove any little flakes of fat that may form When ready to serve make it hot season with salt only and serve with thin brown toast or little water crackers—Boston Herald

TO GET RID OF FLIES

Horse stable proximity is favorable to the fly nuisance, as are swill pails slop holes and unclean kitchen surroundings generally Therefore the tidy housekeeper is less tormented by the presence of the winged scavengers, but despite best efforts, they are apt to be with us and Professor Cook suggests, from his own practice, a threefold precaution for their abatement

First—We have screens to all our windows and to such doors as are much used especially the outside doors to kitchen and dining room The screens to the kitchen windows are full length so the windows can be opened either from above or below We believe in fresh air, and with this arrangement we get it

Second—The screen to the pantry window, to each of the diningroom windows, and to one window of each of the other rooms, is hinged at the top to the upper sash. Thus, by darkening all the other windows, the flies alight on this hinged screen We now push the screen quickly out at the bottom, brush rapidly with a palmleaf fan, and, lo! the flies are all outside the window

Third—In case the flies get too thick we use pyrethrum, or better California pyrethrum or buhach. Toward night we try to attract all the flies into the kitchen by darkening the other rooms and placing odorous sweets exposed in that room At 10 o'clock —bedtime—we scatter by means of a 10-cent bellows, a little of the powder into the room The next morning the flies are dead or partially paralyzed on the kitchen floor and are swept up and cremated in the kitchen stove before any revive Mrs Cook prefers the hinged screens in the main as too free use of the pyrethrum does spread a fine dust on the furniture, which is not desirable—Tribune

A FARMER WHO ROBBED HIS BOY

One way to make boys dislike farming is truthfully depicted in this very suggestive article which comes from the Mirror and Farmer

Last spring a farmer found in his flock a lamb which the mother would not own He gave it to his son a boy 15 years old who saved it and raised it The boy called it his all summer and the family called it his, and it was his But this fall when the farmer sold the other lambs he let this one go with them and taking the pay for it tucked it into his big wallet and carried it off to pay taxes or put in the bank

Now this farmer did not intend to do anything wrong Least of all did he intend to wrong his boy Probably he did not give the matter much thought anyway and if he did he considered the boy's ownership of the lamb a sort of pleasing fiction or reasoned that the boy having all his needs supplied out of the family purse did not need the pay for the lamb and it was better to put it into the common fund But for all that taking the lamb and selling it in that way and pocketing the proceeds was stealing No it was robbery and as between this boy and his father one of the meanest robberies that could be perpetrated

Not only this but by robbing the boy of that $5 the farmer did more to make the boy discontented and drive him away from home than he can undo with ten times that amount A boy is a little man and if he has got any of the gather and grip to him which will make a successful man of him when he grows up he begins at an early age to feel that desire to own something and to add to the property subject to his ownership which is at once the incentive to effective work and the motive which reconciles men to their condition

No matter how well the boy's wants are provided for from a fund which is common to the whole family he takes no particular interest in adding to that fund because he does not feel that it is his, and he tires of labor and thought the proceeds of which he must share with several others, but give him a piece of property of his own to manage as he pleases, to keep or sell or change, and let him feel that his ownership is secure and that his loss or gain depends upon his own endeavors and he will work cheerfully and contentedly

CULTIVATION AND FERTILITY

A writer in Prairie Farmer says The roots of the plants furnish a considerable part of the nourishment required by the plants This plant food they must find in the soil, and to a considerable extent the amount is determined by two items—the amount of available plant food in the soil and the condition the soil is in While it is of course, very important to have the soil fertile at the same time it will be impossible to secure the best results if the roots cannot penetrate and reach this plant food In a loose mellow soil prepared in a good tilth the roots will reach out a considerable distance from the plants, and of course are able to supply a much larger amount of plant food, while if the soil is hard so that the roots have more or less difficulty in finding it the plants will not make as thrifty a growth If the fertilizer is all placed in the hill the roots will find very little difficulty in reaching it but this is not always possible nor is it always productive of the best results

Apply the manure broadcast, working it well into the soil and then prepare the soil in a good tilth before sowing the seed, and then with cultivated crops keep it fine and mellow by frequent stirring so that the roots can penetrate readily and in this way be able to reach out and find the available fertility Additional cultivation will increase the amount of available fertility so that if it can be given without disturbing the root a thriftier growth can be secured than is otherwise possible The finer the pulverization of the soil is the larger the amount of available fertility And in what may be considered a thin soil it is possible to secure a fair crop by thorough preparation and clean good cultivation keeping the soil fine, making available as large an amount of plant food as possible and thus enabling the roots of the plants to reach out and secure And the more frequently the soil is stirred during the growth of the plants the thriftier will be the growth secured

HOW SHE KEPT POULTRY CLEAN

In the Journal of Agriculture Mrs Wilcott makes the following pungent remarks in regard to how she cares for her poultry

I find a good way to keep down lice in a hen house or coop is to cleanse the movable parts by fire I clean out the nests and gather up the rubbish that will burn I then scrape off any filth that may be in the roost etc Then I set fire to the straw and hold the roost in the blaze one by one until they are smoking hot I fill my nest boxes and coops one half full of straw and wet them if they are very dry I set it on fire and turn the boxes down and let the flame creep out through every crevice

I use lime and carbolic acid to whitewash one spoonful to the gallon of wash If there is any lime left in the bottom of the bucket I let it dry and put it in the nest under the straw I never have the creepy lice that invest some hen houses by the millions, and I don't want them For the lice that invest the bodies or head I used this spring sulphur and pyrethrum powder Pyrethrum alone will do when fresh If there is a shed or any place where the chickens congregate to sit and wallow clean it out at least every two or three weeks and every few days throw coal ashes if you have them if not a few wood ashes into their wallows There seems to form a small powder of filth in such a place that creates disease besides being a fine place for creepy lice A neighbor tells me these pests were thick in a wren's nest in their portico last year Perhaps a wren's nest in the hen house would bring them I love the birds but I do not care to have such pests through their agency

When summer comes I shut my chickens out of the hen house and make them take to the trees A grove of low box alders so thick the branches mingle, makes a splendid summer resort night or day These trees are quickly raised and are quite handsome

TO GET CLOVER ON LIGHT SOIL

The droughts of a few years past have very generally destroyed the clover and grass seed sown The all absorbing question on light and sandy land in particular is how to secure a good catch of clover When this can be done such lands produce well and are classed among our surest and most valuable farming lands Barnyard manure will be indispensable in putting such wasted soils in condition to grow the clover Every farmer has doubtless observed in the fields where he has sown clover seeds that spots more fertile than the main portions of the field have been covered with a good growth of clover showing that if the land were thoroughly fertilized the clover would grow whether the season was wet or dry I should advise keeping all the stock possible on the farm and buying more or less wheat bran and oil meal to feed the stock and so increase the value of the manure pile I should prefer buying commercial foods such as I have named for this work of renovation rather than commercial fertilizers It might be well to try plowing under green crops as rye or buckwheat Sowing the clover seed without any other crop after the land has been put in good tilth either in spring or the last of August sometimes proves effective Such lands are not adapted to permanent meadows We are experimenting with alfalfa or lucerne on lands of this character, but have not had experience enough as yet to know its value We have an acre sown last April that has gone into the winter in very good shape I may add that I think salt and plaster will prove beneficial on such lands—Professor Samuel Johnston Michigan College

REASONS FOR THEIR SUCCESS

Years of unvarying success in the treatment of all diseases and deformities that afflict humanity have won for the Drs Darrin a far famed reputation. Their system of electro-magnetic treatment is now recognized by well informed people as the greatest in the world and their success in curing diseases being nowhere equaled This professional firm is composed of two eminent physicians each one of whom has attained the highest degree of proficiency in his own specialties being eminently qualified by special education and extensive experience for the particular department of practice to which he makes a specialty The only way a doctor can become thoroughly successful is to devote himself to some special branch of his profession Under the regular code of ethics this plan is almost impracticable and doctors continue to make fatal blunders by endeavoring to practice more than they have ever learned The Drs. Darrin have successfully solved the great problem and overcome all these difficulties in their extensive business by their method treatment In addition to a thorough course in some of the best medical colleges in the country each one of the physicians has been trained in his own particular line by practical experience, under the direction of skillful specialists Their experience is not limited to a few isolated conditions as is so often the case with other doctors They meet with and treat every imaginable complication of disease and the experience thus gained together with the constant study of their respective specialties constitutes the main ground work of their unparalleled success

Drs. Darrin's Place of Business

Dr Darrin can be consulted free at 235 Fifth street corner of Main Portland Office hours from 10 to 4 o'clock daily evenings, 7 to 8 Sundays 10 to 12 All curable chronic diseases loss of manhood blood taints, syphilis gleet gonorrhoea stricture spermatorrhœa seminal weakness or loss of desire of sexual power in man or woman, catarrh and deafness are confidentially and successfully treated Cures of private diseases guaranteed and never published in the papers Most cases can receive home treatment after a visit to the doctors office. PORTLAND, TUESDAY, JULY 23.

AN INSULT TO HOSPITALITY.

Teachers and educators from the North have enjoyed during the meeting of the National Educational Association at Nashville, the generous hospitality of citizens of the Southern city. Every effort that sensibility and refinement could suggest has been employed to hold in abeyance upon this occasion the race prejudice that is the heritage of slavery to the South, and colored teachers have been treated with courtesy and kindness, through the efforts of a special committee appointed for the purpose

Notwithstanding this, however, Mrs Canfield, wife of the newly-elected president of the association, has found much to criticise in the manners of the people of the South, and has used her pen in expressing her views with a freedom that quite appalled even herself when she saw the fruits of the same in the columns of the daily papers of Topeka Kansas It seems that she so far allowed her desire for criticism to control her as to write, while a guest in Southern homes adverse opinions upon the manners of her entertainers to a friend in Topeka, and this "friend" whose interpretation of friendship was as questionable as was Mrs Canfield's regard for the first principle of the laws of hospitality gave the letter to the newspapers for publication As a natural consequence the plight in which she now finds herself in the homes of her entertainers is most embarrassing

Next to the person who could bring herself to speak disparagingly of those whose bread, tendered in generous hospitality she was breaking and of the home life into which she was led through kindness and courtesy as a woman of education and refinement, the person who brings confusion and dismay upon a private correspondent by publishing letters written as from one friend to another is the most reprehensible There is absolutely no excuse for the action of either Apology stammers in the trying attempt to palliate the offense and retires conscious that matters have only been made worse by its interference The most that can be said in extenuation of such an action is that it was thoughtless and this excuse is tame in the presence of the unwritten laws of true gentility and kindness that lay the finger upon the lips of those who come as invited and honored guests into private homes and share for a time their gracious privileges There is indeed but one consolation in such a case and that is that no one ever has to learn so bitter a lesson twice

His uxorious majesty, the Shah of Persia is quoted as having spoken sneeringly of Gladstone's half century of domestic life as the husband of one woman, boldly declaring even while enjoying the hospitality of Victoria, that fifty women in one year would be much more to his taste It is about time for the oriental monarch to break out afresh, in his indignation against the press of the United States for having so far forgotten what is due to those who wear the royal purple as to comment upon his disgusting personal habits and gross immorality It is certainly too bad to ruthlessly wound the tender sensibilities of such a man in total disregard of the fact that he is one of the rulers of the earth and an honored guest with his retinue of an hundred swarthy servitors at the most virtuous court of Europe His little peculiarities of character and habit should not be spoken of except by the sensitive monarch himself Such temerity has already cost the United States the presence of the Persian minister at Washington and if means are not taken to muzzle the presumptuous press we may expect to hear that the Shah has emphatically declared by the beard of the prophet, that he will never never visit this country

A newspaper printed at Pendleton says that the Portland press wrongfully and vindictively "bulldozed" the jury into bringing in the verdict that was rendered in the Olds case. This is about the usual way that this same paper handles its facts When the first trial resulted in a disagreement of the jury THE OREGONIAN voicing public sentiment spoke some rather unpleasant painful yet necessary truths as was its clear and unmistakable duty THE OREGONIAN reviewed the evidence and expressed an opinion concerning the guilt of the accused and then not only dropped the case, but ceased for the time its condemnation of the police force This paper had no desire to influence any special jury and during the course of the trial nothing was said in its columns referring to the case, save to report faithfully each and every detail of the trial After the trial THE OREGONIAN opened its columns to the condemned man and gave him a chance to put before the public his version of the shooting Yet this is what the Pendleton paper claims is bulldozing We don't believe that the editor really meant what he said, he simply wanted to throw mud at THE OREGONIAN

The Oroya railroad in Peru was one of the greatest marvels of engineering skill in the world The track climbed the Andes mountains to the height of 17 000 feet the intent being to push on to the fertile interior of the continent. It was built at enormous cost the government assisting, by Henry Meiggs who fled from California in 1854 to escape the consequences of a fraudulent career in San Francisco When the track had reached the altitude mentioned work was temporarily abandoned and shortly thereafter the bold engineer died An announcement by telegraph that the Verugas bridge destroyed by a recent flood will never be rebuilt indicates the practical abandonment of the great work upon which such enormous sums of money and wonderful engineering skill and labor were expended The statement of the dizzy hight attained seems a fabulous one and the fact that such a stupendous effort to overcome the barriers of nature by engineering skill failed in the results hoped for must be viewed with regret by all who admire enterprise, skill and energy

The voting population of South Carolina is 179 000, that of Kansas 334 000 Each of these two states however send seven representatives to congress. Georgia, with 143 000 voters, elected ten congressmen while Michigan with 476,000 sends only eleven to the national legislature At this rate a Northern vote is worth just 25 per cent of a Southern vote The congressmen who vote for free trade and against pensions to Union soldiers are not representatives of their states, but of an oligarchy in their states The congressmen who support protection to home industries and to the disabled soldiers of the Union are representatives of great and prosperous states, in some of which ninety-nine out every one hundred voters actually vote, and in none of which less than seventy-six in every one hundred express their opinions by ballots which are counted fairly. The constitution endows congress with the power to regulate and control the election of its members It is a power which should not be allowed to remain dormant."

A vigorous attempt is being made to provide for Albert Victor, son of the Prince of Wales He is to marry his cousin Victoria of Prussia, a comely lass, who, at Bismarck's command, jilted Alexander of Battenburg a few months ago, and parliament has been asked to vote an annuity to keep up his housekeeping expenses A palace has to be provided, however, and to do this Grandmother Victoria thinks of scrimping herself down to Osborne and Balmoral, giving the Prince of Wales the use of Buckingham and Windsor, and leaving Marlborough house for the heir apparent It is too bad for the queen to be thus pinched for room in her old days, but provision must be made for the multitudinous grandchild and the English public are not as cheerful in paying royal annuities as they were half a century ago when the queen's family career began; hence there seems to be no help for it. Wales, as prince regent, will go through the form of looking over state documents and install himself at Windsor changing off for Buckingham when it suits his royal pleasure Albert Victor will succeed to Marlborough house and the old grandmother will be left to scrimp along on her $20 000 000 at Osborne and Balmoral Royalty seems to make no difference in woman's lot It is essentially one of self sacrifice

General Mahone intends to break up the solid South, and the next gubernatorial campaign may show that Virginia has withdrawn her allegiance from the unwritten Southern compact Under Mahone's management the strength of the republican party has increased, as the following table will show

Office	Year	Rep	Dem	Total

Governor	1881	111,473	99,7[illegible]	[illegible]

The first step to republican victory that of harmonizing conflicting factions has been taken, and if Mahone is a candidate for the office as his been reported, he will in all probability be the next governor of the state

Hon D T Corbin, formerly United States district attorney for South Carolina and who afterwards was elected United States senator for that state but who was cheated out of his seat and is now a resident of Chicago sent the following pertinent dispatch a few days ago to Governor Lowry of Mississippi

There are thousands of white citizens in the state of Mississippi to day who have been guilty of mercilessly whipping and pounding other citizens of said state to prevent them from voting and these bruisers have not yet been arrested or even an attempt made to arrest them Having failed to arrest and extradite Sullivan from whipping Kilrain governor, would it not be a good idea for you now to try your hand at arresting some of your own sluggers? Extradition in their cases would not bar the way to their successful prosecution

It seems a mocking fatality, yet two of the very rulers that have striven most to advance the liberty of the people have been appreciated least The czar of Russia who was assassinated by nihilists in 1881 had instituted great reforms and his domestic policy was far more liberal than had been that of any of his ancestors And now Dom Pedro emperor of Brazil who has virtually abolished slavery given to his country a constitutional form of government and instituted all public reforms that have been sanctioned by the experience of civilized nations has been fired upon and his life attempted According to this the progressive monarch does not seem to receive much encouragement

PORTLAND AND VICINITY.

Disasters to the Traps—This has been a bad season on the fishing traps in Baker s bay and elsewhere on the lower river but especially in the first named locality, they being swept out with disastrous frequency Half a dozen went last week, and over fifty have gone since the 1st of May. One owner who lost two was interviewed Sunday and he gave it as his opinion that their destruction is caused by the unusual saltness of the water the absence of the currents of former years and the high tides. He says that a green fungus or slimy growth forms around the meshes of the nets. Then comes the growth thicker and thicker Then comes a high wind and the almost solid mass forming considerable resistance, something has to give way, and up comes the piles and over goes the whole business bottom up. Then a high wind comes sweeping westward, and away goes the trap to sea. Many trap owners are so discouraged that they have given up any effort to do anything further this year—Astorian.

Who Stole My Crawfish—A young man who joined a party that put in Sunday slaughtering hundreds of defenseless little crawfish, in order to cancel an engagement with a lady friend, had to promise her that he would bring back with him a nice mess of the crustaceans As far as the promise was concerned it was kept to a certain extent, but the lady in question never saw the crawfish The young man before leaving the fish grounds, picked out a nice pail full of fish which he kept by his side until the city was reached, but here unfortunately he relaxed his vigilance. Another young man in the party had made a like promise which he had failed to keep. On reaching the city he remembered his promise, and espied the can which had been carelessly left on the sidewalk by his friend and seizing his chance, made off with it How the original owner of the fish explained the matter to his lady friend it would be amusing to witness.

The Italian Waxed Wroth—The Italian peanut and candy fakir who for some time has been occupying the corner at the First National bank yesterday went into sudden and unpremeditated bankruptcy He had been told to move away from the corner several times by the bank officials, he refused to do so on the ground that he had paid his license and was as much entitled to his corner as other peanut venders were to theirs. Yesterday afternoon Officer Holmberg told the Italian that if he would not pick up his store and go he (Holmberg) would have to bring the strong arm of the law to bear on him This so enraged the swarthy son of Italy that he upset his cart, scattered the candies and nuts to the four winds of heaven and went off as annoyed and disposed as March hare. Some of the goods were afterward picked up and the Italian at the corner of First and Stark streets got the cart.

Sudden Death of a Woman—Sunday afternoon Katherine McDonald, who resided with her son-in-law Mrs Shields, about six miles out on the Columbia slough road went into the garden to pick some peas. Half an hour after she was found lying dead among the pea vines There was no suspicion of foul play but as the death was so sudden and unexpected Coroner DeLin was notified of the facts in the case and yesterday morning went out to the farm His investigations convinced him that it was not necessary to hold an inquest as there was no doubt but that the death occurred from natural causes—probably an apoplectic stroke. Deceased was 50 years of age.

Overrun With Freight—The Oregon Railway & Navigation Company have had all they could do of late to handle the freight for the Sound on their steamers. The Idaho and Michigan have not been able to handle all of the freight that accumulates on their docks during their absence. The steamer Willamette which either left late last night or will do so early this morning has been chartered by the O R & N Co to clear up the docks of all the remaining freight for Seattle Tacoma and other Sound ports. The company if the business should increase to any great extent as it has in the past, will probably put another additional steamer on this route.

A Light Loss All Around—The loss by the fire Sunday evening was very trifling when the location is considered. Mr A Anderson had not returned from the coast yesterday, so his loss could not be ascertained exactly, but it will probably not be more than $1500. His engine is disabled so that the presses were not running yesterday, but a look around the office will convince any one that he had a very fortunate escape A Jerome, whose store is beneath the printing office, had a few sacks of beans and some bacon and cheese wet. His loss is not over $200 W F Barton's barber shop was very slightly damaged

Nebraska Press Excursion—The Nebraska press excursion arrived in Portland from Tacoma at 6 30 o'clock this morning Immediately after arriving here they will board the elegant steamer T J Potter, on which General Manager C J Smith has kindly tendered them the use of twenty five rooms for a trip to the beach The day will be spent at Ilwaco and Long Beach and the excursionists will return again to-morrow After resting up a little in Portland, the excursionists start on their homeward journey over the Short Line to the Union Pacific

Y M C A Convention—The sixth annual convention of the Young Men s Christian Associations of the Pacific Northwest will be held at Vancouver, B C September 19-22 All the associations in Oregon Washington territory and British Columbia are entitled to send delegates and no doubt most of them will be represented. Noel H Jacks the traveling secretary of the district, is sending out circulars announcing the convention to all Y M C A s and Sunday schools in the Northwest.

Death of Mrs. Captain Tackabery—After a long and painful illness Mrs. Tackabery, wife of Captain J D Tackabery, died at her home in this city—Seventh and B streets—Sunday Deceased was aged 53 years. She was a loving devoted wife and mother, and bore her lingering illness with patient resignation. A family of five survive her This (Tuesday) morning the body will be taken to Oregon City for burial. Captain Tackabery is in Alaska.

Waverly Woodstock Line—The contract has not yet been let for the Waverly Woodstock electric motor line. The negotiations with Messrs Tobin & Schurz fell through, and the job has been under consideration by the Houston & Thompson Electric Company, from whom an answer is daily expected. As the subsidy subscribed amounts to nearly $40,000, there is no doubt about the line being built.

Looking Over the State—Mr W E Powell general immigration agent, and Mr D H Moses traveling immigration agent, of the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul railway are in the city They are looking over the state in the interests of immigration, and are collecting material for a lecture on Oregon. Their efforts will doubtless bring a great many immigrants to this part of the coast.

Late Cherries.—A box of cherries was left at this office yesterday with the following note "These cherries were gathered last Thursday at the fruit farm of Herman Geer Cove Or Varieties of Yellow Spanish and Black Republican It is a fair sample of cherries raised in Union county. The yield of fruit about Cove and Union will be enormous this year !"

Careful of His Own Health—A gentleman who has never felt happy since the failure of the Bull Run water bill states that he has learned that Governor Pennoyer is supplied with drinking water from a spring by his milkman who brings the wholesome liquid every day in cans. The governor is careful of his own health

Homeward Bound—Hon Sol Hirsch Colonel Louis Fleischner and Mr. J N Fleischner sailed from Southampton on the 18th inst. for New York. Mr Hirsch has to report at Washington and the party will reach here about August 1. On Mr Hirsch's return to Turkey it is probable that he will be accompanied by his family

The New Opera House—The stone foundation for the Marquam Grand opera house is rapidly approaching completion and the work of bricklaying will soon be begun The excavation for the Morrison street front of the building is nearly finished and the work is being pushed ahead as rapidly as possible.

Portlanders in New York—S. C Beckwith writing from New York under date of July 16 says: Dr. Koehler and Mr. J V Larkin, of Portland, called at this office to-day and were glad to see copies of The Oregonian They arrived here last evening and sail for Europe by the steamer Werra on the 20th.

From His Bridal Tour.—Mr Geo B Markle returned from his bridal tour Sunday morning both he and Mrs. Markle looking well after their somewhat extended trip They will take up their residence at Mountain View until Mr Markle s elegant mansion on the heights is ready for occupancy

Going to Medford.—Mr James H Hendershott, of the Cove, Union county and Mr James A Varney, of The Dalles, members of the state Board of Horticulture, arrived in the city last evening They leave to-day for Medford to attend a meeting of the board to be held at that place to-morrow

A Great Many Turnouts.—A gentleman while driving out to the White House Saturday evening counted 300 turnouts coming in. As he was not driving a world beater he could not count the number driving out. The Driving Association is going to be a somewhat numerous body

A Distinguished Party—Senator Mitchell yesterday had for his guests Senator Stewart of Nevada, Charles N Felton, a prominent Californian, and Frank G Newland son in law of the late Senator Sharon. The party were seen driving about the city yesterday afternoon

Been Thoroughly Repaired—The steamer Alliance, which was run into by the Dan the some time since, has been thoroughly repaired and her passenger and freight accommodations greatly enlarged and improved. She will sail on Monday next for Grey's Harbor

Back From Southern Oregon—Captain A J Ankeny is in the city looking as robust and hearty as he has at any time for the past twenty years. Though he now lives in Southern Oregon he still thinks that the Willamette valley is the garden of Oregon.

Leg Amputated.—Fred Collins, an old Oregon pioneer, was taken to St. Vincent hospital from east of the mountains Sunday for treatment of an injured leg. The physicians decided that the leg had to come off, and yesterday the member was amputated above the knee.

[illegible] Calls for the natural fruit syrups [illegible]

Death of Myer Rosenblatt—Myer Rosenblatt, an old resident of this city who has been ill for some time, died at his residence corner of Taylor and Lownsdale streets at 7 o clock yesterday morning.

AMUSEMENTS.

'Bunch of Keys" at New Park—'Fanchon the Cricket" at the Musee Theater—Pleased Audiences.

The simple announcement that the laughable absurdity A Bunch of Keys, with the piquant Marietta Nash as Teddy and George Lauri as Snaggs would open at the New Park last evening and at greatly reduced prices was sufficient to fill the house, the gallery and balcony especially being crowded. The performance evidently caught the house, to judge from the laughter that prevailed though in many respects it was somewhat crude and aged The play itself or rather the skit as it should more properly be called is one of those light, plotless and frothy things that depend entirely for their success upon the snap and action that is put into them by people individually clever in an amusing way and unless these conditions exist such pieces do not accomplish their purpose This skit is certainly one of the most amusing of its class, and when even fairly well done can not fail to keep an audience in roars of laughter

George Lauri, in the amusing role of Snaggs was certainly at his best He is a comedian of unusual ability, and, together with Marietta Nash as the fun loving romping, mischievous Teddy Keys evoked hearty laughter

Miss Nash as Tedd had an excellent opportunity to display her specialties as a singer and dancer, and she captured the house with her clever and artistic work She dances delightfully and always receives an imperative encore While not possessing a strong voice she sings well enough for a soubrette

The remainder of the cast were fair only Their singing was at times badly out of tune and it was hard to tell whether the orchestra (which could not have accompanied them worse) or the singers were at fault

However the performance will doubtless go much smoother to night and there is enough that is good to afford a hearty laugh to all who attend

Cordray's Musee Theater—That delightful romantic play Fanchon the Cricket was given at this house for the first time last night and to a good audience The fact of competition in the [illegible] did not seem to affect the attendance and the play was favorably received

Miss Essie Tittel in the role of Fanchon had a character differing widely from that which she has been playing during the engagement and though she is rather too tall to look the part entirely she plays it with intelligence. She is especially strong in the scenes requiring pathos and emotion but gives the lighter scenes also with considerable effect

George R. Cain makes an admirable Father Barbeaud George Y Stevens an effective Landry Sam Morris a clever Didier Maude Fittell a pleasing Made on and the rest of the cast acquit themselves creditably Barring the hitches incident to most first night performances by average companies the play went off to the satisfaction of the audience

The Musee continues to attract with its alligators, monkeys and other novelties. Fanchon again to night

ACCIDENT ON THE WHITE HOUSE ROAD

Judge James K. Kelly and Hon J B Montgomery Thrown From a Carriage.

Judge James K. Kelly and Mr. J B Montgomery, met with rather a serious accident on the White House road yesterday evening by being thrown out of a carriage. The accident happened about 9 30 o clock as they were returning from the White House Mr Montgomery was driving In some manner the horses took fright and upset the carriage throwing the occupants to the ground. Judge Kelly struck the ground first and Mr Montgomery fell on top of him When picked up Judge Kelly was unconscious His left wrist was fractured and he had several severe cuts and bruises about the head and face

Mr Montgomery was considerably bruised, but had no bones broken

Both men were taken to their homes and had their injuries attended Dr Bevan set Judge Kelly s wrist and bandaged up his injuries He thought that the judge would come out all right Judge Kelly was still partially unconscious late last night and could give no very coherent account of the cause and particulars of the accident

Mr Montgomery was resting easy when last heard from He was badly shaken up and has some painful bruises, but none of his injuries are of a dangerous character

NO PERMIT NO BURIAL

Undertakers Complying With the Law—Violators To Be Prosecuted

It is understood that the chief of police has given instruction to all undertakers that they are to bury no bodies without first obtaining a permit from him Some of the undertakers are already complying with the law

It was stated by one yesterday that the undertakers could not afford to run after the physicians every time they have a case for burial, and that it was the physician s place to return death certificates to the chief of police Certainly this is the law but if undertakers are not permitted to bury a single body without a permit they will see that it is to their interest to get one If they want to do business bad enough they will get a permit in some way either by going directly to the chief of police, if death certificates are already returned or by going to physicians first for the certificate and then to the chief of police for the permit.

It is yet to be seen whether the orders of the chief of police will be obeyed or not If not violators will be prosecuted The public awaits the result of the chief s orders with no little interest The general opinion is that the city will have to do things right some time, and the sooner it starts out to do so the better

SCHOOL BOOKS.

Booksellers and stationers and all merchants handling school books in Oregon Washington and Idaho will do well to notice the advertisement of J K Gill of this city This enterprising firm has one of the best equipped establishments in the United States It has taken special pains to enable merchants here to draw their supplies in their line from this point rather than send abroad Every advantage and inducement is offered the trade by this firm Immense shipments of school books are now arriving by clipper and railroad

NAVAL COAST DEFENSES.

THE OREGONIAN is indebted to Lieutenant Commander Sebree, U. S. N. lighthouse inspector of this district, for a copy of a very able pamphlet entitled "Outline of a Scheme for the Naval Defense of the Coast," by Captain William T Sampson, United States Navy. Captain Sampson is probably the best informed officer in the navy on this subject, to which he has given a great deal of time and thought He was a member of the Fortification Board two or three years ago and took a prominent part in the preparation of its excellent report. At present we have absolutely no defense for our coast. In case of war the Northwest coast would be a very important part of our seaboard to defend a conclusion that the government seems to have finally assented to by its recent decision to build a navy yard on Puget sound As Captain Sampson's pamphlet contains over 230 pages THE OREGONIAN is obliged to content itself with a brief abstract of its exceedingly valuable and instructive contents

Captain Sampson points out first that the defense of our coast is necessary to avert the danger to which a wealthy people are open of invasion by less favored nations who will not hesitate to seize the first opportunity to humiliate us He recalls the great danger to which we were exposed in 1861 from foreign foes, like France that planted herself on our flank in Mexico waiting for the hour in which our extreme difficulty would become her opportunity Had that hour come England would have been prompt to claim a share of our dismembered country, and at the present time the powerful nation of Germany would be actuated, under like circumstances, by similar motives Our sources of danger in event of a foreign war would be an attack upon our commerce afloat, the blockade of our defended ports the bombardment of our sea coast cities and an invasion by an army probably under the protection of a naval force. The probability of an invasion from any nation is very remote The Atlantic ocean is a water rampart against such invasion Any European nation would require at the rate of 4000 tons of shipping for the transportation of every 1000 men and their equipments To transport an army of 150,000 men would require a fleet of 200 steamers of an average tonnage of 2000 tons each The above-mentioned fleet of 200 ships would be required for the transportation of such an army of 150 000 men and their maintenance for the period of two weeks, barely sufficient time to cross the ocean As they must land upon a hostile coast, where they would be forced to depend upon the home base for a food supply, it may readily be seen that the fleet of 200 transports would have to be greatly increased With a population of 60,000,000 from which to draw for defense, with ample internal communication for the concentration of the defense, the invasion of this country presents an undertaking of such magnitude that we may dismiss it, except in the case of England who would have in Canada a land base of operations, giving an invading army ample resources of subsistence while her powerful fleet transported reinforcements and ammunition In this case our main reliance would be upon our own army, and therefore an English invasion from Canada is not properly included in a discussion on the naval defense of our seaboard Our sea coast cities would be sure to be bombarded if they refused to comply with even exorbitant demands The attacking naval force would be obliged out of respect for the laws of civilized warfare to give ample warning of its intention to permit the escape of non combatants

An advancing army would not bombard an unresisting city because the army has only to take possession, but the bombardment of an unresisting city by a naval force would be a different question if it was understood that resistance would be offered if the naval force should attempt to take possession No naval commander would bombard an open city without making a demand for ransom or the fulfillment of any conditions that were not impossible demands Reasonable time must be granted for reply On this point of danger from bombardment Captain Sampson says

> When a fleet has made a demand for a ransom upon an unfortified city and the ransom has been refused the fleet cannot be expected to abandon its position of advantage its power as a fleet, and land its men and attempt to take by a landing party what was refused to the fleet. If such a construction could be put upon the general rule that unfortified cities may not be bombarded, then it would become absurd, and in coast defense naval supremacy would have no significance

In the days when war ships were built of wood and propelled by the wind, when they could be rapidly built and armed and their guns produced insignificant injury the naval power of a nation could not be measured by the number of her ships afloat as a prolonged war gave time to build fleets, but to-day it requires so much longer to build a war ship than fifty years ago that in spite of our wealth and resources it would not be possible as it was in 1812 and 1861 to add materially to our fighting fleet after hostilities had begun After war has been once declared the nation best prepared for immediate naval action would force the fighting and bring it to a speedy termination before we could build a fleet Captain Sampson says that if we defer our preparations for war until war is imminent, we are certain to be defeated We do not recite Captain Sampson's argument that we ought to build a navy at once if we expect to defend all of our recent applications of the Monroe doctrine when the canal across the isthmus is completed because we shall never be permitted by the powers of Europe to exercise any more authority over that canal than England does over the Suez canal, so we do not expect a war with France or any other power over the neutrality of the canal The civilized world of Europe and America will join hands to guarantee such neutrality and we could not help ourselves if we had a fleet of ironclad ships as large as that of Great Britain

Great Britain France, Russia Germany Italy, Spain and Austria all possess to-day the requisite naval strength to blockade our coasts bombard our sea coast cities and destroy our commercial marine In providing for a proper naval defense of our coast Captain Sampson assumes that that portion of the defenses of our coast which belongs to the army has been provided and he only contemplates the naval establishment that would be necessary to secure our coast against successful attack after everything had been accomplished by forts submarine mines etc that properly belong to the system of land defenses The means of naval defense are divided into torpedo boats gun boats, rams and floating batteries or coast defense vessels. The coast defense vessel should mount guns equal to or superior to any probable enemy should have armor of great thickness while she should be at the same time a smaller vessel and of lighter draught than the typical sea going ship of the attacking fleet

The range of the heaviest high power guns is estimated at ten miles an extreme range secured only at considerable elevation "If," says Captain Sampson, "heavy guns are mounted on the outer islands at the entrance and at the east point of Nahant, there would still remain a small space in Broad Sound within six and a-quarter miles of Boston State House which would be more than two miles from any guns mounted on shore yet only a little more than two miles; and the margin being so small, in this case the city might be considered as well defended if proper defenses were erected on shore On the other hand, in foggy weather to which that part of the coast is subject, the enemy could enter Broad Sound to a point within six miles of Boston State House A fog would not prevent the approach of the enemy, nor would it materially interfere with the destructiveness of his fire"

In addition to armored vessels carrying heavy guns for coast defense a gunboat mounting one ten inch armor piercing gun can be constructed, drawing but seven feet with a speed of ten knots The office of the ram in coast defense requires as great speed as possible, with sufficient weight to destroy any vessel by ramming say 3000 tons at a speed of twenty knots. The ram should be well protected by armor without any heavy battery to increase her draught Captain Sampson does not consider the dynamite gun nor the submarine torpedo boat because their capacity as naval weapons has not yet been sufficiently tested In event of war New York city would be the first object of the enemy's greatest efforts, and Portland Maine is a port of first importance from its strategical position as the terminus of the Grand Trunk line, over which it carries the winter traffic of Canada Its harbor is excellent, and never obstructed by ice and its possession by England would be essential to any campaign carried on from Canada While the larger armor clads of Europe cannot enter most of our harbors because of the great draught they can enter Portland Narragansett bay and Hampton roads any draught less than twenty six feet can enter Boston New York and New Orleans, and any less than twenty three feet can reach Philadelphia

The naval defenses sufficient to protect our coast from Eastport Me to Portsmouth N H, would cost $14 000 000 from Cape Cod to Cape Ann, $10 000 000 from Cape Cod to New York harbor $17 000 000, New York harbor, $15 500,000 Delaware bay, $5,000,000 Chesapeake bay $12 400 000 the Atlantic coast from Charleston southward, $8 400 000 Mobile and New Orleans $13 600 000 Pensacola should be abandoned as incapable of defense as is Galveston The commerce of the lakes, amounting to 000 000 tons annually, would have to be defended, as England has 100 gunboats that can pass through the St Lawrence canals and to the upper lakes but we could easily build vessels able to destroy these small gunboats What Captain Sampson says of the naval defenses of the Pacific coast we have printed entire in another column To man these coast defense vessels for the whole country would require 18 400 men

THE RANGE QUESTION

Last session a measure passed the house that was of importance to the ranchmen of Eastern Oregon and was defeated in the senate by the influence of flock owners who wanted the earth for their range and did not care for the rights of others This bill was to prevent stock being driven from one county into another in the heated season Mr John Minto who has recently returned from Crook county and has seen with impartial eyes the distress that exists there and the disaster that has befallen actual settlers from the invasion of their proper domain by outside flocks, gives a graphic statement of the facts as he saw them and his opinion of the wrong and the remedy One particular instance was where a settler had brought in water by a ditch for his family use and a band of sheep driven from another county was pastured on his own land and on the line of this ditch so that the water is defiled and the family are without water to drink after having gone to this trouble and expense

Few settlers are able to fence in their holdings as fence material is scarce They claim that their rights should be respected and that flocks should not be allowed to come in from a distance, and consume the pasture they depend on for their own home use As it is these flocks come to their very doors and devour the last blade of grass on the range leaving nothing on the premises for horse or cow When a woman came out to protest against having a band of sheep herded on her water ditch, the men in charge of the sheep treated her with scorn

No doubt this question of range is important as connected with the permanent settlement of the country THE OREGONIAN has always held that the best interests of our state are advanced by having the range country occupied by permanent settlers, whose small flocks shall displace the great herds and flocks that now monopolize the earth and respect no private rights Of course it will be proper and necessary that the rights of settlers shall be protected by law and every legal guard thrown around them or the great herds of rich men will drive the settler from his home There is now a great tendency to such monopoly of range and invasion of private rights because the stock man recognizes that permanent settlement well defended by law and protected by the state means death to the hopes of range monopoly The permanent settler must have the protection of law to exist, and the state is interested in such permanent settlement far more than in stock that monopolizes the range and is owned by aliens or citizens of some other state

The right sort of legislation will not only protect actual settlers but will have the effect to prevent overstocking the range If a flock master can drive his sheep to any range regardless of private rights he will take chances he could not afford to take otherwise It has been customary for a sheep owner to keep his flocks in the mountain range through the summer If confined to a single county he might suffer inconvenience as the winter and summer ranges are sometimes far apart A sheep owner may be allowed to occupy a mountain range in summer but he should specify the limits to be occupied and no trespass on private interests should be allowed

The Blue mountains have always furnished good range for summer pasture and always will so will the benches and the plateaus of the Cascade range Mr Minto says large bands of sheep are now pasturing and doing well in the Cascades west of Minto hill and the base of Mount Jefferson It may be necessary to regulate by law the claims of these stock men to their summer pastures The whole question is liable to complications and it may be well that the state shall take the matter in hand and appoint commissioners who will attend to the enforcement of the laws and the rights of all persons whose interests are thus involved

THE WALLA WALLA SUBSIDY

An Interesting Letter From an Opponent of the Scheme

Constitutions Are Adopted for the Express Purpose of Protecting the People From Themselves and Their Law Makers.

WALLA WALLA W T July 20, 1889

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

THE OREGONIAN of a few days ago contained an article with the heading "The Subsidy Question at Walla Walla" dated at Olympia and signed "P B J"

It is very much to be regretted that a constitution has to be formed for Washington, at a time when so many schemes of one kind or other to abstract money from the public purse have already been, or are now being initiated since they lead to the formation of lobbies in Olympia, designed to bring pressure to bear upon the members of the Constitutional Convention to carry them into effect, by either introducing into the constitution some altogether novel provision or provisions or omitting some that experience elsewhere has demonstrated it should contain

It is an open secret that your correspondent "P B J" and the editor of the Walla Walla Union are one and the same person The editor of the Union writing on the subsidy question in May of this year in substance declared as a rule, he was opposed to the people pledging their credit or the benefit of any corporation or individual though he for various reasons would make an exception to the rule in the case of the Hunt subsidy

On July 9th he wrote a long article to THE OREGONIAN headed "Bonding County Subsidies Why should the people be prevented from pledging their faith? A plea for allowing counties in Washington to build railroads," which contains the following statement

> But why should the state prohibit the people of a county from doing what they deem best with their property? Have the rest of the state a greater interest in the welfare of the county than the people thereof? If the people of a county are not fit to govern themselves are the people of the rest of the state better fitted for that work? Does one part of the state contain all the ignorance and the rest of the state all the wisdom all the discretion?

Between May and July the rule has ceased to be altogether and the exception has become the rule

I submit that assuming that "P B J" and the editor of the Union are the same so radical a change in so short a space of time displays a mental vacillation that would render its possessor wholly unfit to be the advisor of the members of a constitutional convention

The constitutions both of the United States and of the several states—all of them—assume that there are certain subjects with which the people in their legislative capacity cannot be safely trusted to deal and so they inhibit all legislation on those topics Passion or prejudice, or fancied self interest may lead the people of a whole state or any one of its subdivisions astray and so a constitution is formed guarding the people from themselves, though each contains within itself some method by which if in the course of time it appears to them that some change in it would be beneficial, it can be made in the manner therein provided

The fundamental difference between the British constitution (if there can be said to be one at all) and the American ones is that in the former parliament is omnipotent and can legislate as it pleases while in the others certain subjects are placed from the beginning beyond the control not only of the main legislative bodies but of the minor ones deriving their powers of sub legislation so to speak from them

One would naturally think that so august a body as the congress of the United States might safely be trusted to pass no law "abridging the freedom of speech or of the press or the right of the people to peaceably assemble and to petition the government for a redress of grievances" but the framers of the constitution did not and positively prohibited them from passing any such laws

It might be supposed that no state would frame a law impairing the obligation of contracts but the framers of the constitution of the United States were of a different opinion and prohibited any of them from doing so In a word both states counties cities and individuals sometimes are hoodwinked or become insane and need to be protected against themselves and for this purpose constitutions are devised and contain more instead of fewer safeguards as experience is slowly gained

Perhaps as apt an illustration of this temporary madness (assuming that I myself am sane) is to be found in the mental condition of the editor of the Walla Walla Union who in May sees no virtue in the Hunt subsidy contract because its originators proposed in consideration of an enormous sum to carry freight only as cheaply as the O R & N Co and shriekingly asked if the people wanted to give power to the O R & N Co for ever winding up his article by saying in substance that if Hunt would agree to carry freight for ever so little less than the O R & N Co charged it would be a substantial benefit to the people of Eastern Washington, and well worthy of the subsidy otherwise it would be of no value whatever—and his present position in which while the contract remains unaltered in that particular he is unreservedly in favor of it and seems almost to think that all opposed to it are public enemies

But really when I began to write I intended to call attention only to P B J's article in THE OREGONIAN of July 11 headed as this communication is From it I make the following extract

> It is useless to attempt to conceal or overlook the fact that the inhabitants of the Walla Walla valley are not in love with Portland or the O R & N Co The fact that fully 1700 of the 1800 tax payers in Walla Walla county has signed a petition asking for authority to give county bonds to the extent of $250 000 to Mr Hunt for an agreement to carry the products of the county to Puget sound for the same rates of freight that are charged to carry them to Portland is very strong evidence of the truth of my assertion

Now if the statements above contained were true would it not be plain that this community is temporarily insane? Probably the fact is that the people of this inland empire are not in love with Portland or any other place but they care very much for their own interest and have dealt with Portland and still and always will deal with it, so far and so far only as it is to their advantage to do so For example I am morally sure that the DAILY OREGONIAN by which Portland is best known all over the Pacific Coast has a larger circulation in the city of Walla Walla than the Daily Union and it will continue to enjoy a larger circulation than that paper not because the people are in love with it but because it gives more news more speedily than any we have and it consequently becomes a necessity to the business man the politician and the reading community generally The moment a better newspaper makes its appearance whether it be printed here at Pendleton Spokane Falls Seattle Tacoma or anywhere else which will bring us the news more speedily than THE OREGONIAN the circulation of the latter will begin to wane

But is it a fact that 1700 of the 1800 taxpayers in Walla Walla county have signed the petition asking for authority to give county bonds to the extent of $250 000 to Mr Hunt as above stated? I for one do not believe it for I think I know more than 100 taxpayers myself who have not signed it and I feel satisfied that many did sign it who never paid any taxes in Walla Walla county at all as well as a very large number who were cajoled or bulldozed into putting their names to it

The whole scheme was cleverly conceived and ably engineered Quite a number of individuals had signed contracts with Mr Hunt binding themselves to give him various sums of money one-half payable at the expiration of one year and the other half at the expiration of the second year in consideration of his carrying freight as cheaply to Puget sound as the O R & N Co conveyed it to Portland All of the first year's subscription that could be collected has gone into Mr Hunt's pocket, the remainder is not due

Now the very ingenious scheme is conceived of remitting all future dues of individuals and returning to such as have paid the money already collected provided the county gives bonds to more than double the amount first asked for This gave Mr Hunt an enthusiastic following who labored with might and main in their own interest as well as his to throw a large part of the burden of building railroads supposed to be wholly owned, or nearly so by Mr Hunt on the public, which public is to have its freight carried on them as cheaply as on the O R & N Co's, and only carried on such payment.

Every one knows with what facility signatures to petitions are obtained and there being a large amount of money involved in this transaction no pains of any kind have been spared to get them, but the proportion of taxpayers who signed is, in my opinion, very much overestimated by P B J, and if it were left to the vote of the people it is very probable the proposition would be defeated. I, as one of the taxpayers think it should be

ANTI SCHEMER

AS TO PROFESSOR BELL

SALEM July 22, 1889

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Having become somewhat familiar with the problem of deaf mute education by an experience of nearly twenty years I ask the use of your columns for a few words in regard to the following paragraph which I find in your issue of July 11

> Professor A. Graham Bell an authority on defective classes,' says that the increase in the number of deaf mutes is out of proportion to the increase of population The cause is the intermarriage of deaf mutes the children resulting from such unions being generally deaf One result is an increase in the number of those who cannot be educated in the public schools and a consequent increase in the burden upon the rest of the community for the support of special schools The time will probably come when laws will prohibit marriage among the defective classes

In the first place I should like to ask on what grounds A Graham Bell is to be regarded "an authority on defective classes" He has certainly shown himself an expert manipulator of the villainous patent laws of the United States and has made himself a millionaire by means of a gigantic monopoly of other men's inventions It is true that for a few years past he has used the wealth and leisure thus acquired in collecting and manipulating so called statistics not as an honest and patient student of a great social problem but as the persistent advocate of a very narrow and absurd hobby Time and again he has been met in open debate by men who are experts and the utter absurdity of his theories has been shown to all who have given the matter serious attention But Professor Bell happens to be known over the world as the great "Telephone King" and this fact gives him a constant hearing while men of at least equal ability and benevolence whose lives have been spent in actual contact with these "defective classes," find it hard to obtain a hearing

So great a newspaper as THE OREGONIAN ought to know by this time that every crank in the world with a pet theory to advocate repeats many times in a day the glib formula, "statistics show" when in reality there is no warrant whatever for the position taken Professor Bell whose telephone is a great success and whose theories concerning deaf mute education are simply absurd has been collecting "statistics" three or four years past to prove a pet theory of his to the effect that the deaf should not intermarry for fear of producing a deaf variety of the human race He even goes so far as to claim that they should not be exclusively associated in institutions and that the oral method alone should be used in their education It only requires a moment's thought to see the absurdity of an attempt to prove such a theory at the present time by statistics It would require generations to prove anything by this means As to the point that deaf mutes are increasing at a greater rate than the population it must be remembered that only within a few years has any attention been given the subject The establishment of institutions in all the states has brought this class more into notice, but it is doubtful if their relative numbers have really increased Again it must be remembered that all defective classes increase as a country grows older and becomes more thickly populated There are few deaf mutes among absolute barbarians for the simple reason that barbarism takes no care of the weak or helpless In a large majority of cases deafness results from the accidental loss of a physical organ Not one fourth of all that are gathered in institutions are really congenitally deaf Those who are accidentally deaf are no more likely to produce a deaf variety by intermarriage than would the intermarriage of people maimed in their limbs tend to produce a crippled variety of the race

The plain fact is as all sensible people ought to know that the intermarriage of of scrofulous people or people near of kin is more likely to result in defective issue than the marriage of those who merely lack a physical organ who simply suffer a fracture of the tympanum or a paralysis of the auditory nerve If Professor Bell wishes to stop the natural tendency of deaf people to marry each other he should seek some better reason than the absurd bugbear of a deaf variety of the human race

The writer of this has personally known in the past twenty years quite a number of intermarriages between deaf people He knows of twelve such unions in this state yet has never seen a deaf child in one of these families The twelve families have twenty seven children There has never been a pupil congenitally deaf in this school since its organization whose parents were deaf Of course this does not prove Professor Bell's theory to be false but it goes a long way to show the necessity of more evidence to prove it true No one will deny that there are occasional cases of inherited deafness But the instances are too few in number to justify Professor Bell's crusade against deaf mute marriages Inherited consumption and inherited insanity are far more common and more to be dreaded

Professor E A Fay of Washington D C whose life work has made him an authority in such matters recently published an article in reply to some of Professor Bell's nonsense from which I quote

"It has been recently shown that during the last thirty years while the population of the United States has simply doubled the number of deaf and dumb people in this country has been multiplied by five"

There are no statistics of the population of the country nor of the number of the deaf since the census of 1880 According to that census the total population of the country was 50 155 783, and the number of deaf mutes 33 878 According to the census of 1850 the total population was 23 191 876 and the number of deaf mutes 9,794 It will be seen from these figures that during the thirty years the population of the United States more than doubled and that the number of deaf and dumb people was not multiplied by five The following table shows the relative figures at each census since 1850

Years	Total population of the United States	Number of the deaf	Proportion of deaf one in—
1850	[illegible] 191 876	9 80[illegible]	[illegible]66 inhabitants
1860	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible] inhabitants
1870	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]9 inhabitants
1880	50 1[illegible] 783	[illegible]	[illegible] inhabitants

THE INCREASE IN THE PROPORTION OF

The deaf as shown by the above table was all gained within the last of the three decades 1870 1880 It may have been due in some degree to the marriage of the deaf with the deaf but it may also be explained (1) by a great epidemic of cerebro spinal meningitis which prevailed in that and the preceding decade, producing numerous cases of deafness and (2) by the greater pains taken to secure accuracy in the census of 1880 as compared with all previous censuses As to the statement that the offspring of such unions are almost invariably similarly afflicted and that when the deaf marry hearing persons the resulting offspring are more than apt to be born deaf and dumb, the fact is that deaf parents rarely have deaf children Of the 18[illegible]6 deaf persons educated at the Illinois institution the largest school for the deaf in the world [illegible] have married deaf persons after leaving school and twenty one have married hearing persons I do not know the total number of children these marriages have produced but Dr P G Gillett the superintendent of the institution says they have been as fruitful of offspring as the average of marriages in society at large some of them resulting in large families of children Only sixteen of them have deaf children Of the 500 pupils of

THE MINNESOTA SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF

Over thirty have married and have children, but none of these are deaf I am personally acquainted with at least twenty eight married deaf persons now residing in the city of Washington of whom twenty two are married to deaf and six to hearing persons (seventeen couples in all) and not one of them has a deaf child So far as I am aware there are no deaf parents of deaf children in the city Similar statistics might be cited from many sources"

Permit me to remark in conclusion, that if the time ever comes as you surmise it may when laws will prohibit marriage among the defective classes "if those laws simply apply to those who are defective from the loss of a single organ of sense as to the deaf, for instance, they will be more infamous than any laws now in force in Russia But if they are so framed as to include all who are in the full and true sense of the word "defective," a life of celibacy will be enforced on a very large number of people, and the list will include a goodly number of clergymen, doctors and lawyers, and perhaps a few smart reporters and able editors

Copper—Nominal; lake, July, $11 50.

Lead—Dull; domestic, $3 87½.

Tin—Quiet, firm; Straits, $19 87.

Bar silver, 91⅝c.

Petroleum was stronger to-day and prices [illegible] higher than ever before this year, the August option selling up to $1 per barrel, and spot [illegible] 95⅝c. The advance was caused largely by the attempt of operators to cover their short accounts. Spot oil opened steady at 94⅜c and before noon advanced to 98¼. The market then receded, closing steady at 97⅞c. Stock Exchange—Opening, 94⅜c; highest, 98¾c; lowest, 94¾c; closing, 97⅞c. Consolidated Exchange—August: Opening, 95½c; highest, $1; lowest, 95½c; closing, 98c. Total sales, 1,949,000 barrels.

NOTES OF THE NORTHWEST.

OREGON.

The superintendent of the Nelson mine has brought to Baker City four gold bricks weighing twenty-four pounds, and worth about $23,000.

H. C. Beck, while intoxicated at Pendleton, broke into the house of Mrs. Howells, his mother-in-law, severely choked her and fled. He has not been captured by the police.

Dr. T. J. Dean has recently located a mining claim in the mountains above the lake, about six miles from Joseph. A test of the ledge matter shows it to be free-milling, and there are at least 5000 tons of the ore in sight.

A small fire was discovered in the Willamette bridge at Salem but was extinguished before any damage was done. In some way fire caught in the crack between two planks, burning a hole about one and one-half feet in length and about four inches in width.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

The land office at Yakima has been allowed two additional clerks.

Seattle's police force has been reduced to thirty-two men, the same number as it was before the fire.

The Washington Press Association is in receipt of an invitation from Mayor Wheelright to hold its coming meeting at Tacoma, and has accepted.

On July 1, 1887, the deposits in the Bank of Pullman were $8000; in 1888 they were $14,000; while this year they are $41,000, or over five times what they were in 1887.

A slaughter house and cold storage system, with a capacity of 100 sheep, 100 cattle and 100 hogs, and employing a large number of men is about to be erected in the vicinity of Tacoma. A glue factory will be run in connection with it.

While Charley Caldwell, of Walla Walla, was tacking lath on the residence of Henry Frazier, in South Milton, a portion of the scaffold gave way, and he was precipitated to the floor below, a distance of twelve feet. His left leg was broken and the ankle thrown out of joint.

She Was No Democrat.

New York Herald.

Senator Eustis of Louisiana tells a good story at his own expense. Several days ago he prepared a political speech and sent the manuscript to a typewriter to be copied. When the manager of the establishment returned the manuscript he remarked: "That's a rattling good democratic speech, senator."

Senator Eustis, who knows a good thing when he sees it, thought so, too, but he remarked blandly: "Ah! you read it, I see."

"No," said the man, "I did not, but the young lady who copied it did. She is a staunch republican, and several times during the operation I heard her exclaim: 'That's a lie; that's a horrid, nasty democratic lie!' so I knew you must be preaching good democratic doctrine."

For horse-colic Simmons Liver Regulator is known to be the best remedy.

Struck by an Engine.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., July 22.—Three boys, sons of prominent citizens, were out driving this morning, and in crossing a railroad track were struck by an engine. All, it is believed, are fatally hurt.

"A Cough"

is dangerous as well as troublesome. It renders the patient liable to the rupture of a blood vessel or to other serious injury of throat and lungs. To allay bronchial irritation and give immediate relief, the best medicine is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"I was recently troubled with a dry cough which seemed to be caused by an irritation in the throat. My physician prescribed for me, but no relief was obtained. A little over a week ago, my attention being called to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, I concluded to try it, and purchased a bottle. After taking this medicine only one day, I could see a change for the better, and, by the time I had used it a week, my cough had entirely disappeared."—H. W. Denny, Franklin square, Worcester, Mass.

"Ayer's Cherry Pectoral leads all other medicines as a sure, safe, and speedy cure of throat and lung troubles."—W. H. Graff & Co., Druggists, Carson, Iowa.

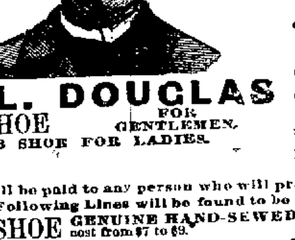
Good morning

Have you used PEARS' SOAP?

CAUTION

W. L. DOUGLAS' name and the price are stamped on the bottom of all shoes advertised by him before leaving his factory; this protects the wearer against high prices and inferior goods. If your dealer does not keep the style or kind you want, or offers to sell you shoes without W. L. Douglas' name and price stamped on them, and says they are just as good, do not be deceived thereby, but send direct to the factory, for you can get what you want by return mail, postage paid. Dealers make more profit on unknown shoes that are not warranted by anybody; therefore do not be induced to buy shoes that have no reputation. Buy only those that have W. L. Douglas' name and the price stamped on the bottom and you are sure to get full value for your money. Thousands of dollars are saved annually in this country by the wearers of W. L. Douglas' Shoes. In ordering by mail state whether you want Congress, Button or Lace, London cap toe, plain French toe or narrow cap toe, and be sure to give size and width you wear. I can fit any foot that is not deformed, as my shoes are made in a great variety of widths, sizes and half sizes. I guarantee a fit, prompt delivery and perfect satisfaction or money refunded upon return of shoes in good condition. W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.



W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN.
$3 SHOE FOR LADIES.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN.

Is a fine seamless calf shoe, with Dongola tops and Oak Leather bottoms. They are made in Congress, Button and Lace on London Cap Toe, Narrow Cap Toe and Plain French Toe Lasts, in sizes from 5 to 11, including half sizes and in all widths. If you have been paying from $5 to $6 for shoes of this quality do not do so longer. One pair will wear as long as two pairs of common shoes sold by dealers that are not warranted by the manufacturer.

Our claims for this shoe over all other $3 shoes advertised, are:

1st. It contains better material.
2d. It is more stylish, better fitting and durable.
3d. It gives better general satisfaction.
4th. It costs more money to make.
5th. It saves more money for the consumer.
6th. It is sold by more dealers throughout the U. S.
7th. Its great success is due to merit.
8th. It can not be duplicated by any other manufacturer.
9th. It is the best in the world, and has a larger demand than any other $3 shoe advertised.

$5,000 will be paid to any person who will prove the above statements to be untrue. The Following Lines will be found to be of the Same Quality of Excellence.

$5.00 SHOE	GENUINE HAND-SEWED, which takes the place of custom-made shoes that cost from $7 to $9.
$4.00 SHOE	THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY HAND-SEWED WELT $4 SHOE. Equals custom-made shoes costing from $6 to $8.
$3.50 SHOE	FOR POLICEMEN. Railroad Men and Letter Carriers all wear them. Smooth inside as a hand-sewed shoe. No tacks or wax thread to hurt the feet.
$2.50 SHOE	IS UNEXCELLED FOR HEAVY WEAR. Best calf shoe for the price.
$2.25 SHOE	WORKINGMAN'S. Is the best in the world for rough wear; one pair ought to wear a man a year.
$2.00 SHOE	IS EQUAL TO SHOES THAT COST FROM $3 TO $3.50. One pair will wear longer than any shoe ever sold at the price.
$2.00 SHOE	FOR BOYS is the best School Shoe in the world.
$1.75 SHOE	YOUTH'S SCHOOL, gives the small Boys a chance to wear the best shoes in the world.

All made in Congress, Button and Lace.

W. L. DOUGLAS' $3 AND $2 SHOES FOR LADIES.

Both Ladies' Shoes are in made in sizes from 1 to 7, including half sizes, and B, C, D, E and E E widths.

STYLES OF LADIES' SHOES.

"The French Opera," "The Spanish Arch Opera," "The American Common Sense," "The Medium Common Sense." All made in Button in the Latest Styles. Also French Opera in Front Lace, on $3 Shoe only.

Consumers should remember that W. L. DOUGLAS is the largest and only Shoe Manufacturer in the world, supplying shoes direct from factory, thus giving all the middlemen's profits to the wearer.

AN ACCOUNTING WANTED.

Mr. C. A. Gove Yesterday Sued Henry Jones for $113,000.

Captain William Whiteford Assaulted by His Cook—Candidates for Matrimony—Adjudged Insane—Various Minor Cases.

C. A. Gove, administrator to the estate of the late James B. Stevens, yesterday began action against Henry Jones for $113,000. Jones was for several months prior to Mr. Stephens's death the latter's confidential business agent, and during that time handled large amounts of cash, always honestly as far as known.

Mr. Gove, after being appointed administrator to the estate, caused Jones to be cited before County Judge Catlin and give an account of his business transactions for Mr. Stephens His account was not very satisfactory, as he did not answer the questions asked him to the administrator's satisfaction. He spoke of large gifts made him by the deceased, which, at the time, was not given much credence by those who intimately knew Mr Stephens during his lifetime As far as known, Jones's transactions while in the employ of Mr Stephens were perfectly honest but some of the allegations in Mr Gove's complaint would seem to place the defendant in rather an unfavorable light

The plaintiff in yesterday s suit in the first place asks judgment against Jones for $84,000, double the amount he alleges the latter collected for Mr Stephens, and turned it over to his own use According to law, the administrator is allowed to sue for double the shortage

Further, the administrator asks for a judgment of $60,000 against Jones for appropriating a lot of personal property to his own use For a further cause of action Mr Gove sets up a claim against Jones for double the amount he collected from F H Page, $20,000 The sum Mr Page paid to Jones was $10,000 due on property bought from Mr Stephens, which the agent alleges the deceased made him a present of

POLICE COURT DOINGS

There was an unusually long list of offenders on the police transcript yesterday afternoon The cases were disposed of as follows Grant Penright and Henry Keys charged with drunkenness and fast driving, forfeited $10 bail on each charge—a total of $40, Jerry Mahone and Martin Hogan, charged with being drunk, were discharged, leniency being shown them because it was their first offense and they had imbibed but moderately Larry McCue and Frank Taylor, drunk fined $10 each, Miss Aline Josephine charged with soliciting, forfeited $10 bail the case against John De Morse for discharging firearms in the city park, was continued Thomas Links, trespassing in the city park, fined $10 John Gustavson forfeited $10 on a charge of disorderly conduct, and Pete Dempsey a like amount for fighting James Sullivan was fined $10 for roaming the streets after midnight. C W Opedyke forfeited $5 on a charge of fast driving and L McGregor $10 on the same charge. Gee Fook, the Chinese actor who shot and wounded a Chinese cook, named Lee Quong, on the stairway of the Chinese theater, was arraigned on a charge of assault with intent to kill He waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury under bonds in the sum of $2000 W H Bernstein and E. J Thomason, the two men who assaulted C H Summers, a waiter in the New York restaurant with a stone, early Sunday morning, will have an examination this afternoon The waiter refused to sign the complaints, so the prosecuting attorney will fight the cases single-handed. Arthur O'Neill, the man who robbed the night bar tender of the Pantheon saloon of a gold watch and chain, diamond locket bunch of keys, and some money, and then rifled the till of the barroom, containing about $60, waived examination, and the court held him to answer before the grand jury under bonds in the sum of $500 on each charge Frank Taylor, charged with the larceny of some fifty feet of hose belonging to D Simon, was found guilty and sentenced to serve a term of ninety days in the county jail. When arrested, he also had in his possession a rubber coat and a large bundle of clothes, and as soon as the owner is found, he will be prosecuted on further charges.

A SEA CAPTAIN ASSAULTED

Friday afternoon last Captain William Whiteford, of the ship Scottish Glens, had a dispute with his cook, one John Quinlan a very quarrelsome fellow On the day following the sailors, with the exception of Quinlan, were given a few dollars with which to go ashore and enjoy themselves. When the latter asked his master why he too was not given money the reply received was "Do you expect me to show you any favors after your conduct of yesterday ? No I will not give you a cent.

'Won t you though you —— Well, take that at the same time striking the captain a heavy blow just below the heart

Captain Whiteford is not less than 60 years of age and the shock came very near ending his life As it was he suffered intense internal collapse, and was very weak when he arrived at the office of Dr C H Wheeler late Saturday night He was very pale and his heart beat very rapidly After attending to the injured man s immediate wants Dr Wheeler drove the captain over to Justice Phelan s court, where the latter swore out a warrant for Quinlan's arrest

Dr Wheeler visited Captain Whiteford yesterday morning and found his patient s stomach very irritable but otherwise he was getting along nicely and will probably be able to appear to-day and prosecute his assailant Captain Whiteford is one of the kindest old masters that has visited this port, and the assault was brutal and wholly without provocation

AN INSANE PAINTER

Dr. C H Raffety, of East Portland yesterday examined J L Lyon, an East Portland painter who for the last two weeks has imagined that he has been at work when he has not. He is slightly homicidal and at times has become quite violent This is said to be his second attack He is 29 years old and married His confinement in the asylum at Salem was recommended

"BAITING" THE HOOK WITH FISH

What a Fond Father Did—An Old Story—Shakespeare on the Subject.

Half a dozen men were taking lunch together yesterday, when one of them was telling about going into the country on a fishing trip on Sunday He had his hopeful 4 year old son along and the little chap wanted to fish so a little rod and line were fixed up for him

He amused himself for some time but finally fishing without catching anything became monotonous The father under pretence of fixing the youngster's bait attached a small trout to the hook and unobserved dropped it in the water After a little he said to the child, Johnny I think you ve got a bite, I saw your line move upon which Johnny yanked out the trout at the sight of which he was wild with joy

The father evidently thought he had done something smart in playing this practical joke on the scion of his house, and he was somewhat disgusted when an old sea captain said

"That is a very old joke I have seen it played when I was a boy I once went out fishing in a schooner from Cape Cod with a pleasure party more than fifty years ago In the party was a young man named Jehiel, but familiarly known as Hi.' He had no luck fishing and while all around him people were hauling in codfish haddock, skate etc His line hung limp and idle over the rail Finally Hi tired of the sport and went down into the cabin to get something to eat and a wag hung a big fish on his hook and then called him and told him he had a bite. Hi came rushing out with his mouth full of gingerbread and hauled in his fish with great joy bait d his hook and went to fishing with renewed energy After a time not catching anything he deserted his line again and another fellow put a fish on his hook and called him again. When Hi hauled the fish to the surface and noticed that it did not kick he said in a tone of intense disgust By gosh it seems fish are struck with death as soon as they touch my hook.''

One of the party is a literary man and he remarked There is an older instance of this kind on record In Shakespeare s play of Antony and Cleopatra " where Cleopatra is trying to devise means of passing the time while waiting for the return of Antony, she says

"'Give me mine angle—we ll to the river there
My music playing far off, I will betray
Tawny finned fishes my bended hook shall pierce
Their slimy jaws, and as I draw them up
I ll think every one of them an Antony

To which her attendant, Charmian replies

Twas merry when
You wagered on your angling when your diver
Did hang a salt fish on his hook, which he
With frequency drew up

GENTLEMEN'S RACES SATURDAY

A Meeting Held Last Night—Some Good Tests of Speed Promised

A meeting of the Multnomah Driving Association was held last evening in the parlors of the Riverside hotel

It was decided to hold a race meeting at Riverside on Saturday afternoon next and Messrs W F. Burrell, O F Paxton and J W Bailey were appointed a committee to take charge of the races.

Messrs. Staver & Walker have offered as a prize to be trotted for on this occasion an elegant Clark's road wagon, which will go to the winner The races will be confined to members of the association and to road horses only A number of entries were made last evening, and more will be made to-day. There will probably be at least nine entries, and the horses will be divided into three classes, according to speed. There will be a race between the horses of each class, and the three winners will determine by lot which of them takes the road wagon, which will be the first prize.

Another gentleman has indicated his purpose to offer as another prize to be trotted for a handsome robe and whip. Probably other prizes still will be offered.

The proceeds of these races will go to defray the expenses of sprinkling the road. Entries can be made with members of the committee named above.

Particulars of the race and a list of prizes and names of the contestants will be published later in the week. A great deal of interest is being displayed and a fine day's sport and an interesting series of races will certainly be had

These friendly speed contests among horses owned by our most prominent citizens and driven by their owners are of more interest than professional races.

"WHAT! I SAW WOOD?"

A Caller at the City Board of Charities Flies Into a Furious Rage When Offered Work.

A well-fed individual having the appearance of one of the class known as the "shabby genteel," strode into the office of the City Board of Charity several days since, and after introducing himself in a very decorous manner, placed one of the little yellow 'C B of C ' tickets upon the counter He looked upon the clerk with the far away lingering and wistful gaze of a Hottentot lover Although saying nothing to explain why he so eagerly parted with the ticket, his looks clearly indicated that he expected to receive payment.

"We do not cash those checks," blandly remarked the clerk "but if you would like to saw some wood, we would be glad to accom—"

"What! what is that you say? furiously interrupted the applicant "I I saw wood, did you say? How dare you insult me in that way sir?

As he spoke he swung his hands through the air with the fierceness of an enraged anarchist. His eyes bulged out like glaring fireballs, while his 'very frame shook for ire.'

The demure looking clerk had slunk away into a back room, where he had very conveniently forgotten some thing He trembled as he heard the belligerent stranger hurl volley after volley of vituperation and damnation at his unfortunate head, and in his imagination he could smell the fumes of sulphur and dynamite bombs

Picking up a little courage and an old pair of rubbers, the clerk again ventured forth to watch the action of his visitor As he entered the front office he was greeted by the insulted applicant for charity, who was shaking his fists at him, with the words 'Just come outside of this counter and tell me to saw wood. You! Oh! you, I dare you

He would have continued in this mad harangue, but noticing the formidable old pair of rubbers tightly grasped by the clerk, he took abrupt leave closing the door after him with a slam that shook the building. That was the last seen of him in that office.

During the afternoon he was seen holding mass meetings around several street corners He denounced the Board of Charities as the biggest swindle tolerated by an enlightened public in this nineteenth century He claimed that he was insulted by being told to saw wood and robbed of his ticket, which in the hurry of his departure he forgot to pick up

The City Board of Charities apparently is not much of a haven for professional tramps dead beats, and beggars. It does not exist for this class of people, and is 'not at home when they call. Honest and worthy applicants always receive the most kindly consideration

NEEDS A MARKET PLACE.

It Is High Time That Portland Should Move in This Matter

It is high time that Portland had a market place as other cities have The streets in the vicinity of Alder and Second are used as a market place and every morning some forty or fifty wagons from the country gather there and sell out their loads of fruit and vegetables and litter up the streets with refuse and damaged fruit to the great annoyance of some of the people on these streets

Mr Arthur Kohn complains that the sidewalk on the Second street side of his store is littered up with refuse every morning, and he has given notice to the chief of police that he will not sweep it off any longer, and that he wants a policeman stationed there to protect him from this annoyance

The block on which the old Pavilion stands was intended for a market block, but has never been used for this purpose The city is growing, and the number of market wagons coming in is increasing every year so that it is high time some preparation was being made for their accommodation and regulation

There should be some place where marketmen could congregate and there should be some one to look after them and see that nothing unwholesome is sold by them also some means should be provided for disposing of the refuse which always accumulates around such places.

The Pavilion is for sale and the city might buy it and turn it into a green market, or better still tear it down and erect a proper market or leave the block vacant and oblige the market gardeners to go there

KEEPING UP WITH THE PROCESSION

Towns in the Inland Empire—Electric Lights and Telephones

All the towns in the Inland Empire are keeping up with the procession and some of them are making great strides of progress Colfax has just ordered a plant for thirty five additional arc lights, and Moscow has ordered a 600 incandescent plant The system of long distance telephones in use in that section throw completely in the shade the telephone system in this vicinity Telephone lines branching from Colfax reach Spokane Falls and Walla Walla via Lewiston, a distance of about 100 miles

Portland to equal this should have telephone lines to Vancouver Hillsboro Forest Grove Salem and all the other towns in the Willamette valley and even to Tacoma and Seattle A five minutes conversation over one of these lines at a cost of 50 cents would be a great thing for the public at both ends of the line

HE THOUGHT THEY WERE JAPANESE,

But They Proved To Be Alaska Indians—Three Men Arrested.

Gus Peterson Charles Damm and William Morgan saloon keepers at Albina were arrested yesterday by Deputy United States Marshal Clay Myers charged with selling liquor to Indians The Indians were two braves from the far North who seeing their native illahe invaded by tourists thought they would go out of town during the heated term and so came here on the Idaho one as deck hand, the other as a steerage passenger

The pair went ashore to see the lions at Albina and in the course of the operation got boiling drunk and were promptly arrested by the efficient police in that city and locked up When they came to they told where they procured the hootchinoo and Mr Damm was pointed out as the person who furnished it The other persons are the owners of the saloon where Damm works and say they know nothing of the transaction Damm says he took the Indians for Japanese

In these days of universal travel when an Alaska Indian is liable to come in at one end of a saloon and a Japanese at the other a barkeeper needs to keep his eyes open and also to have made a study of the peculiarities of the various species of the human race so as to be able to tell a North American Indian from an East Indian or a Mongolian

The three prisoners were brought before United States Commissioner [illegible] and gave bonds in $[illegible] each to appear [illegible] to-day

ROBBED HIM OF HIS PEACHES

Some Bad Boys Help Themselves to Mr O S Phelps's Fruit

Mr O S Phelps who lives on the corner of Mead and Second streets came to THE OREGONIAN office rooms yesterday and charges some of the boys in his neighborhood with a crime similar to that for which our ancestral Adam was ejected from Paradise Said Mr Phelps

"On Sunday night last five or six boys entered my orchard and stole between three and four bushels of choice peaches from the trees yes, they took the best peaches in the orchard they knew where to find them, because the boys live in the neighborhood The housekeeper saw them when they ran out of the orchard, and thinks she can recognize them This was about midnight I sat up until about 11 o clock and got tired watching for them But this is not the first time that the boys have robbed my orchard I m getting tired of it and have notified the police department and an officer will be placed on guard. I have been raising peaches for eight or ten years and I would like to gather some of them myself Just score those boys in to-morrow s paper, won t you"

GATHERING SPECIMENS.

Mr B S Pague's Visit to Eastern Oregon—Grains, Grasses, Vegetables, Fruits—Etc

B S Pague, of the signal service and assistant director of the Oregon state weather bureau, has been in Eastern Oregon for the past ten days gathering specimens for the Oregon exhibit to be displayed next month in the states of Pennsylvania, New York and Michigan Through the efforts of Mr Pague the Grand Ronde valley, the garden spot of Eastern Oregon will for the first time be represented in the exhibits made of the products of Oregon The specimens from the towns of Union and Lane are particularly fine and while many were gathered before being matured, the entire collection will prove to be an interesting portion of the general exhibit

Mr Pague, on his arrival at Union met with an extremely cordial reception and the numerous specimens gathered there showed that the people of that section took a lively interest in the project of having the resources of that place properly advertised

The collection from Union county consists of grains grasses, vegetables, fruits mill products and dried fruits and have been received here by the board of immigration and is now being prepared for shipment to the East

Wagon and Load of Hay Burned—Narrow Escapes From Fire.

An Insane Painter—A Little Boy's Fall—Ballasting the Track—Church Opening—Doubtful Measure—Was Shut Off.

W H Adams, of Portland, has a farm about four miles east of Milwaukie, and has had a young man named Johnson at work hauling in the hay Last Saturday he (Johnson) went out as usual for the hay, and while returning with a load came to a tree lying directly across the road. There was fire in that neighborhood, and the tree had burned down In order to pass the tree Johnson attempted to drive around, but in doing so upset the load of hay on the tree, which was still burning The hay took fire and the driver was compelled to unhitch the horses and let them go The wagon was almost totally destroyed

A DOUBTFUL MEASURE

At the last meeting of the common council it was decided to instruct the police to stop all cars running on tracks above grades Reference was had especially to the street car line from V to Washington streets It is a measure that can do no good, and will result in a serious inconvenience to stop the cars at V street When that portion of Fifth street is graveled, it will be the proper time to require the track to be to grade There are a large number of people who live between V and Washington, and south of the bridge across Stephens slough, who get on the cars at Washington. What gave rise to this measure was an insignificant accident last winter when the cars jumped the track and rolled over, but no one was injured. Those most interested who ride on the cars from Washington are willing to take chances

The attention of the mayor is called to the injustice of the measure to the people who are accommodated by the cars running to Washington street and it is possible he may hold the matter in abeyance at least until the next council meeting

INSANE FROM A FALL

Saturday night Marshal Morgan and Officer Atterbury were called to the Cully building to take charge of a man who was thought to be insane When they arrived there they found a painter named Lyons in one of the rooms raising a disturbance He had been boarding in the building about two weeks with his wife and as he showed signs of insanity his wife locked him out of the room but he got in through the transom The marshal broke the door open and after a severe struggle he was secured and taken to the jail It was there demonstrated that the man was out of his mind He kept constantly going through the motions of painting and talking about the work he thought he had in hand Last Friday and Saturday he was at work painting the steeple of the Evangelical church and got along very well He is supposed to be the same man who fell from a building in Portland about a month ago and that his insanity is the result of the fall He was taken to the insane asylum at Salem yesterday evening

CRIMINAL CARELESSNESS

Sunday afternoon a fire broke out in the grass and brush on the river bank in front of Mr William Halfpenny's house, on Brookland Heights and spread so rapidly as to endanger the buildings It came within a few feet of Mr Halfpenny s front door, and it required considerable exertion to check the flames The fire was carried toward the south with the wind and then ran through an orchard along a fence It is thought to have been started from a fire left in the brush by some parties who took their lunch It was criminal carelessness, to say the least

Yesterday forenoon the fire took another start, and approached the old photograph printing house of O C Yocum and Mr Morrow s barn The women were alone, but they kept the fire in check until help came

CHURCH REOPENING

The First Evangelical church of East Portland was reopened on Sunday with appropriate and special services, conducted by the worthy pastor, Rev L S Fisher The subject of making God s house an attractive and free place for the worship of God was ably handled The church has undergone extensive repairs, outside and inside It has been nicely painted, and the belfry has undergone repairs which adds greatly to its appearance The seats have been varnished and the walls and ceiling have been nicely decorated, which speaks a remarkable degree of credit for the artist as well as Mr Fisher for his efforts and energies in bringing about these needed repairs The church is now second to none in appearance in East Portland

SHUT HIM OFF

Sunday night some man after the Salvationists had held their usual services on Fourth and I went in the streets and harrangued the crowd in a manner that was very offensive Officer Atterbury compelled him to desist which was the right thing to do The Salvationists are bad enough but the language [illegible]

Wonder and Satisfaction will be your experience when you first try Pearline. You'll wonder at its miraculous cleansing—time—labor-saving properties. Wonder why you had not discovered the truth before. You'll be satisfied that all the good things you have read or heard of Pearline are true—if you've heard bad, you'll be satisfied 'twas false. There's hundreds of uses for Pearline beside the laundry and house-cleaning—for washing dishes, china, glassware, silver, straw hats, felt hats, bead trimmings, marble, bronzes, oil paintings, carpets, in fact, everything in the house, from top to bottom—all that's washable—will be far more satisfactory because of the liberal use of Pearline. It is harmless.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers are offering imitations which they claim to be Pearline, or "the same as Pearline " IT'S FALSE—they are not, and besides are dangerous. 15? Pearline is manufactured only by JAMES PYLE, New York.

The Parke & Lacy Machinery Company

Gentlemen—In answering your request for a statement as to the doings of the Westinghouse "Compound" Engine, as compared with our other engines, we would state that our plant consisted of an Atlas "Automatic" Engine, "11x16," and a Brush Dynamo, running 22 2000-C P. Arc Lights and 90 16 C. P Incandescent Lamps The coal consumed during a run of six hours averaged 1850 pounds of "Seattle Nut " We replaced said engine with a Westinghouse "Compound" Automatic, size "10 and 18x10," and consumed on an average, 1000 pounds of the same kind of coal in the same time, doing the same work We are now running a Westinghouse Alternating Dynamo, carrying 275 16-C P Incandescent Lamps, and a Brush Dynamo, carrying 22 2000-C P Arc Lights. Our average coal consumption per run of six hours is 1270 pounds "Seattle Nut."

Yours Truly,

THE DAY AT OLYMPIA.

Report of the Committee on Executive Department.

FULL TEXT OF THEIR ARTICLE

The Committee on Federal Relations Also Reports—The Convention Declines to Ask Mr Blackwell to Speak

OLYMPIA, W T July 23—The convention met at 9 o clock, the president in the chair

Prayer by Rev J R Chaplin, of Olympia

The roll call showed all present save those excused

On request of Mr Allen leave for the day was granted to Mr Hicks

The records were read corrected and approved

Mr Sturdevant by request presented a proposition providing that penal and charitable institutions shall be fostered by the state and the agents thereof appointed by the governor Also providing that the state capitol shall be at Olympia and that a new state house and other necessary buildings shall be there provided as soon as possible after the first meeting of the legislature referred to the committee on state institutions

On motion of Mr Turner the judicial vote was further postponed until 10 A M Wednesday, the copies not having come up from the printer

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT

Full Text of the Article Reported From the Committee.

Mr Weir made a report from the committee on executive department and pardoning power recommending an article for the constitution as follows

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT

SECTION 1—The executive department shall consist of a governor a lieutenant governor, secretary of state treasurer, auditor attorney general superintendent of public instruction and a commissioner of public lands, who shall be severally chosen by the qualified electors of the state, at the same time and place of voting as members of the legislative assembly

Sec 2—The supreme executive of this state shall be vested in the governor who shall hold his office a term of four years

Sec 3—The lieutenant governor shall hold his office four years The secretary of state treasurer auditor attorney general superintendent of public instruction and commissioner of public lands shall hold their offices for two years respectively or until their successors are elected and qualified

Sec 4—The returns of every election for the governor and lieutenant governor shall be sealed up and transmitted to the seat of government by the returning officer, directed to the secretary of state He shall deliver the same to the speaker of the house of representatives at the first meeting of the house thereafter, when he shall open, publish and declare the result thereof in the presence of a majority of the members of both houses. The person having the highest number of votes shall be declared duly elected and a certificate thereof shall be given to such person signed by the presiding officer of both houses but if any two or more shall be highest and equal in votes for the same office, one of them shall be chosen by a joint vote of both houses. Contested elections for governor or lieutenant governor shall be decided by the legislative assembly in such manner as shall be determined by law In case the time of regular meeting of the legislature shall be changed by law the terms of office of the governor secretary of state treasurer auditor attorney general superintendent of public instruction and commissioner of public lands shall thereafter commence on the first Monday after the day fixed for such regular meeting

Sec —The governor may require information in writing from the officers of the state upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices and shall see that the laws are faithfully executed

Sec 6—He shall communicate at every session by message to the general assembly the condition of the affairs of the state and recommend such measures as he shall deem expedient for their action

Sec —He may on extraordinary occasions convene the legislature by proclamation and shall state to both houses when assembled the purposes for which they are convened

Sec 8—In case of a disagreement between the two houses in respect to the time of adjournment he shall have power to adjourn the legislature to such time as he may think proper, but not beyond the regular meetings thereof

Sec 9—He shall be commander in chief of the military in the state except when they shall be called into the service of the United States.

Sec 10—The pardoning power shall be vested in the governor, under such regulations and restrictions as may be prescribed by law

Sec 11—In case of the removal resignation death or disability of the governor the duties of the office shall devolve upon the lieutenant governor and in case of a vacancy in both the offices of governor and lieutenant governor the duties of governor shall devolve upon the secretary of state who shall act as governor until the disability be removed, or a governor be elected

Sec 13—The governor shall have power to remit fines and forfeitures under such regulations as may be prescribed by law and he shall report to the legislature at its next meeting each case of reprieve commutation or pardon granted and the reasons for granting the same and also the names of all persons in whose favor remission of fines and forfeitures shall have been made and the several amounts remitted and the reasons for the remission

Sec 14—Every act which shall have passed the legislative assembly shall before it becomes a law be presented to the governor If he approves he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it with his objections to that house in which it shall have originated which house shall enter the objections at large upon the journal and proceed to reconsider If after such reconsideration two thirds of the members present shall agree to pass the bill it shall be sent together with the objections to the other house by which it shall likewise be reconsidered and if approved by two thirds of the members present it shall become a law, but in all such cases the vote of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays and the names of the members voting for or against the bill shall be entered upon the journal of each house respectively If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within five days Sundays excepted, after it shall be presented to him it shall become a law without his signature unless a general adjournment shall prevent its return, in which case it shall become a law unless the governor within ten days next after adjournment Sundays excepted shall file such bill with his objections thereto in the office of the secretary of state who shall lay the same before the legislative assembly at its next session in like manner as if it had been returned by the governor If any bill presented to the governor contain several sections or items he may object to one or more sections or items while approving other portions of the bill In such case he shall append to the bill at the time of signing it a statement of the section or sections item or items to which he objects and the reasons therefor and the section or sections item or items so objected to shall not take effect unless passed over the governor's objection, as hereinbefore provided The governor shall not during his term of office be eligible for the office of United States senator nor be eligible to any other office during the term for which he shall have been elected

Sec 14—When during a recess of the legislative assembly, a vacancy shall happen in any office the appointment to which is vested in the legislative assembly, or when at any time a vacancy shall have occurred in any other state office for the filling of which vacancy no provision is made elsewhere in this constitution—the governor shall fill such vacancy by appointment which shall expire when a successor shall have been elected and qualified

Sec 15—He shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies as may have occurred in the legislative assembly

Sec 16—He shall receive an annual salary of $4000 which may be increased by law but shall never exceed $6000 per annum

Sec 17—All commissions shall issue in the name of the state shall be signed by the governor, sealed with the seal of the state and attested by the secretary of state Any governor of this state who asks or receives or agrees to receive any bribe upon any understanding that his official opinion judgment or action shall be influenced thereby or who gives or offers or promises his official influence in consideration that any member of the legislature shall give his official vote or influence on any particular side of any question or matter upon which he may be required to act in his official capacity or who menaces any member by the threatened use of his veto power or who offers or promises any member that the said governor will appoint any particular person or persons to any office created or thereafter to be created in consideration that any member shall give his official vote or influence on any matter pending or thereafter to be introduced into either house of said legislature or who threatens any member that the said governor will remove any person or persons from office or position with intent to in any manner influence the official action of said member shall be punished in the manner now or that may hereafter be provided by law and upon conviction thereof shall forfeit all right to hold or exercise any office or trust of honor in this state

Sec 18—The lieutenant governor shall be presiding officer of the state senate and shall discharge such other duties as may be prescribed by law He shall receive an annual salary of $1500, which may be increased by the legislature, but shall never exceed $3000 per annum

Sec 19—The secretary of state shall keep a fair record of the official acts of the legislative assembly and executive department of the state, and shall when required, lay the same, and all matters relative thereto, before either branch of the legislative assembly and shall perform such other duties as shall be assigned him by law He shall receive an annual salary of $2500, which may be increased by the legislature, but shall never exceed $3000

Sec 20—There shall be a seal of the state kept by the secretary of state, for official purposes, which shall be called the 'seal of the state of Washington.'

Sec. 21—The treasurer shall perform such duties as shall be prescribed by law He shall receive an annual salary of $2500, which may be increased by the legislature, but shall never exceed $4000 per annum

Sec 22—The auditor shall be auditor of public accounts and shall have such powers and perform such duties in connection therewith as may be prescribed by law He shall receive an annual salary of $2000 which may be increased by the legislature, but shall never exceed $3000 per annum.

Sec. 23—The attorney general shall be legal adviser of the state officers and shall perform such other duties as may be prescribed by law He shall receive an annual salary of $2000, which may be increased by the legislature but shall not exceed $2500 per annum

Sec 24—The superintendent of public instruction shall have supervision over all matters pertaining to the public schools and shall perform such specific duties as may be prescribed by law He shall receive an annual salary of $1800 which may be increased by law, but shall never exceed $2500 per annum

Sec 25—The commissioner of public lands shall perform such duties and receive such compensation as the legislature may direct.

Sec 26—The governor secretary of state treasurer auditor and attorney general shall severally keep the public records books and papers in any manner relating to their respective offices, at the seat of government, at which place also the treasurer shall reside

Sec 27—No person except a citizen of the United States and a resident of the state or territory at least two years shall be eligible to hold any state office No person shall be eligible to hold the office of governor or lieutenant governor unless he be at least 35 years old and shall have resided in the state or territory at least five years last preceding his election to such office No person shall be eligible to hold the office of state treasurer more than two consecutive terms. The compensation of state officers shall not be increased nor diminished during the term for which they shall have been elected

FEDERAL RELATIONS.

Jurisdiction of the United States Over Reservations—Etc

The report of the committee of federal relations etc. was taken up and read It cedes exclusive jurisdiction to the United States over such tracts or parcels as are now held or reserved by the government of the United States for the purpose of erecting and maintaining thereon forts magazines, arsenals, dockyards lighthouses and other needful buildings. Provided that a sufficient description of each of such tracts is filed in the county records, and that all civil and criminal processes of the state be executed in such tracts the same as in other parts of the state

Mr Eldridge asked if future tracts taken by the government should be included

Mr Jones said he had introduced that article at the request of the treasury department who prepared the article

Mr Godman thought there was some ambiguity in the language as to the purpose for which these reservations were to be held

Mr Jones explained in detail saying there had been many reservations made on Puget sound only a few of which were really useful and would be speedily fortified, while the remainder would soon be thrown open to settlement The object in asking this convention to cede jurisdiction instead of waiting for the session of the legislature was to gain time and get such reservations in shape for fortification as soon as possible He could see no objection to placing this article in the constitution The reason there are so few precedents for such articles in state constitutions is that government lands have generally been selected after such constitutions have been made

Mr Godman's point was that if the state now gave away any land to the government for any of these purposes and the government afterwards abandons any such land, will the state be precluded from its title.

Mr Stiles proposed to amend by providing that whenever the United States ceases to own any of such land the provisions of this article shall cease to apply

Mr Godman preferred to use the words ceases to occupy etc

Messrs Stiles, T M Reed Jones E H Sullivan the president J Z Moore Cosgrove Turner Gowey Dyer and Comegys briefly continued the discussion after which upon motion of Mr Comegys the subject was laid upon the table.

UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE

The Convention Refuses to Ask Mr Blackwell for an Address

Mr Sullivan of Tacoma moved that Mr H B Blackwell be invited to address the members of the convention next Thursday evening on the subject of universal suffrage

Mr Turner was opposed to extending invitations to anybody to address the convention on any subject (Voices So am I)

Mr Power moved that the address be in this hall

Mr Buchanan moved that further consideration be indefinitely postponed

Mr Eldridge hoped not that this gentleman had addressed other conventions and for the honor of Washington territory he hoped he would be asked to address this convention.

Mr Sullivan, of Whitman opposed this, saying he would go personally to hear this gentleman lecture but would not vote to invite such an address

Mr T M Reed opposed indefinite postponement as rather discourteous but thought the question came up wrong end first that this gentleman ought to invite the convention and not the convention invite him

Mr Warner was opposed yesterday to the invitation of Senator Stewart but that having been given he should now favor this one

Mr Sullivan of Tacoma said if there was anything wrong in the form of the invitation the fault was his and not Mr Blackwell's

Mr Sicksdorf moved to adjourn Lost.

Mr Griffitts said the doors once opened there was no knowing where it would end The convention had at least four weeks work to do and no time to attend to any such people.

Mr Turner said there was an error in regard to the matter of Senator Stewart's address The convention merely invited him to occupy this hall to address the people of Olympia

Mr Cosgrove said the evenings were the only hours left for committee work and should not be taken up by such outside addresses

Mr Buchanan said the work of the convention was a tax on his mental powers and he did not wish to increase it by coming here to listen to any extra speeches

Mr Gowey disclaimed any [illegible] and intimated that Mr Sullivan was [illegible] at [illegible] that Mr Blackwell was to lecture and [illegible] to the convention to be present

Mr Sullivan complied with the suggestion and withdrew his motion saying that Mr Blackwell would [illegible] in [illegible] hall [illegible] Olympia [illegible] evening and extend [illegible] invitation to the members of the convention to be present

On motion of Mr Sturdy the convention adjourned to 9 A M Wednesday

THE CLAMBAKE.

Olympians and Their Visitors Turn Out in Full Force

OLYMPIA W T, July 23.—About 2500 people visited the picnic grounds at Butler's cove to-day, where a clambake was given by the Board of Trade in honor of the members of the convention The Olympia brass band furnished music during the day, and various sports took place during the afternoon Although a number of steamers barges and small boats were kept busy conveying passengers to and from the grounds not a single accident occurred to mar the pleasures of the day Every business house in town was closed and the festivities were not unlike a Fourth of July celebration Nearly all the members of the convention spent the afternoon at the grounds and seemed to enjoy the occasion heartily

THE TRANSCONTINENTAL ROADS.

The Fate of the Association Depends on Two Lines

CHICAGO July 23—The managers of the transcontinental lines met again to-day and after a discussion appointed a committee of five to labor with the Northern and Southern Pacific roads to withdraw their notices of resignation from the association Unless this proves successful it is believed that the association will go to pieces.

THE CANADIAN [illegible] DOWN

CHICAGO July 23— [illegible] of the Transcontinental Association this afternoon James Smith was elected permanent chairman The Southern Pacific's notice of withdrawal was considered and Traffic Manager Stubbs stated that the notice would only be recalled on condition that the Canadian Pacific's differentials on Pacific coast business were considerably modified The matter was referred to the executive committee

A Band of Thieves Arrested

NEW YORK July 23—A gang of men of which Red Hickey is a leader who have been robbing fashionable apartment houses here, was captured to-day Thousands of dollars worth of property was recovered from pawnshops.

CLAMS AND POLITICS.

The Feast at Butler's Cove a Great Success.

A SPEECH BY SENATOR STEWART

A Prohibition Minister Sends an Abusive Letter to One of the Delegates—Taunts, Threats and Vituperation.

OLYMPIA W T July 23.—The clambake was a great success. The constitutional convention held but a short session, and then the members hurried down to the boats and barges which bore them and many of their families to Butler's cove, three miles distant. Nearly every member of the convention was there, and the citizens of Olympia made the occasion a holiday They shut their stores up and went down to the cove with baskets heavily laden, and were as hospitable as Virginia matrons.

SENATOR STEWART'S SPEECH.

Notwithstanding the day's enjoyment a large number of delegates and ladies and gentlemen of Olympia assembled at the hall of the constitutional convention at the capital at 8 30 o clock this evening to listen to Senator Stewart of Nevada, on the subject of irrigation and silver

The senator was introduced by President Hoyt. He said among other things

You have here a greater combination and a greater variety of products than any state of the Union easier modes of transportation and a climate unsurpassed. It is going to be important politically too facing as it does British Columbia on the north which is going to be a serious question one of these days. You are on the international frontier and face the Pacific There are many important things which this section desires, and you have not heretofore been represented as you should have been considering your population and resources We have not been a power heretofore because we of the extreme West have not been properly represented You have 12,000,000 square miles of land west of the Rocky mountains which is to be homes for millions, and which requires irrigation Why, in British India there are 800,000 square miles supporting 250 000,000 of people by irrigation All the lands of the ancients were irrigated lands and the works of those people were superior in every respect to the present methods of civilization If the early discoveries in this country had been on the desert lands the forests of the Atlantic slope would never have been run away

'Evidences exist all along the arid lands of the Pacific slope in South America of wonderful engineering skill in irrigation and Arizona and New Mexico show positively that these states were once densely populated We cannot get the government in this country to help along irrigation and men should go to the national capitol who know all about the question It is proposed to survey every rain shed get the cost of storing, plot these lands make estimates of what they cost, and when we get them done we want legislation to enable the people to construct ditches canals and reservoirs avoiding, of course monopolies. Homes for the people is the problem pressing upon us and I am here to call your attention to this matter of irrigation and the silver question."

THE SILVER QUESTION

Senator Stewart then gave his well known views on the silver question closing as follows.

The United States should take all the gold and silver offered at the standard ratio of 16 to 1 and issue silver certificates then store the bullion, and we will thus reach a metallic basis and have a financial policy independent of other nations. Why should we not have it just the same as we have an independent political policy? Silver can not be demonetized It is the money of the world Twelve hundred millions of people have been educated in the use of silver as currency. I hope you will send two senators to Washington who will stand up for the people on the irrigation and silver question stand up and see that the United States shall have a financial policy that is not dictated in Europe stand up against grinding monopolies The admission of these four new states means that the honest voice of the West shall be heard

The senator was roundly applauded at the conclusion of his speech Delegate James Power of Skagit offered the following which was unanimously adopted

Resolved That the thanks of this convention are due and are hereby tendered to Senator Stewart of Nevada for his very able and learned address on irrigation and the monetary interest of the United States.

AN ABUSIVE PROHIBITIONIST

Delegate Buchanan received a very curious epistle to-day from one of his constituents, a Methodist preacher which he thinks should be made public It is a sample of many received by other members from intolerant prohibitionists, and the answer which the Adams county delegate will give to the epistle to-morrow will probably open the eyes of the Rev A. C Spencer Here is the letter

POMEROY W T, July 20 1889

Mr D Buchanan Olympia W T—Dear Sir I see by the report that your committee on miscellaneous subjects reported adversely on the subject of prohibition Now as clerk for a number of temperance workers in the locality I beg leave to inform you that if you had remembered the platform on which you were elected in the Eighth district, where you were pledged to support prohibition on a separate ticket your name would have appeared at least honorable to your constituency in the minority report of that committee, You must remember that you represent the people in that convention from the Eighth district, and you are surely not aware of the fact that your majority in this district was because of the platform on which you were nominated This is evident from the fact that your colleague on the republican ticket was so far behind in this county because of his known views in opposition to temperance and unless you can redeem yourself on this important question you have made for yourself a whisky political grave besides doing the republican party in Garfield county irreparable damage

So often have the temperance people been hoodwinked by so called temperance republicans that unless you can show yourself on the platform on which you were elected you will have shown that you were willing to swallow temperance resolutions in order to be elected in the interest of the whisky insurrectionists. You admit in your report that thousands of petitioners had asked your body for prohibition but your committee presume to know more than the people. It may be that you do but it is evident that when a man [illegible] a national [illegible] public office agreeing to do what the people demand and then does directly the opposite he is either an ass or has stolen the suffrage of his constituency In either case he does not represent the [illegible] of Garfield county. Your admitting many thousand petitioners virtually says that we will accept anything that comes from [illegible] and [illegible] the will of many [illegible] for [illegible] it means the driving away of everything that is good and [illegible]

[illegible] but what part of Washington knows anything of tide lands and what part [illegible] You spend time on the judiciary and well you may after your report for you will need many courts judges justices etc., to control the greatest foreign foe that ever cursed our land. Legislation now in favor of high taxes will be consistent with your present action and, of course 'municipal indebtedness and railroad subsidies must be curtailed because the saloon must have all the money of the country to make it blossom as the rose. Your next action should be

"Section 1—Be it further enacted that a high license system is a prerequisite to good government and as prohibition can not prohibit only in towns like Seattle [illegible] burgh after this that in cities of 500 and over the license shall be $500 [illegible] and in towns of smaller size that order can not be maintained without making the license at least $1000 [illegible] Any more than that may cause the saloon element to violate the law and the law must be kept sacred.

Sec 24—Be it further enacted that every citizen shall comply with whatever the whisky ring demand because prohibition does not prohibit, and the legislature shall have no power to legislate against the greatest law abiding class of citizens in the territory namely the saloon and whisky element

This will harmonize with the late action of the Rhode Island legislature We begin our operations next week, opposing the constitution that does not embody woman suffrage and prohibition, and until the polls close on election day will our cry be heard in the land crying out to the people to remain a territory or come into statehood free from that vile thing that is worse than Mormondom You may not listen to the thousands pleading now but the October elections will tell you that you were neither "the people" nor "representatives" of the people This may be presumption on my part [illegible] but these are our sentiments that [illegible] indicate at the polls on election day [illegible] person who votes against prohibition in that convention will ever have their names appear on our ballots for any office whatever Respectfully
